IN BATTLE FLEET maneuvers off the Pacific Mexican coast last week a fleet of our destroyers "made believe" locating battleships after dark. A torpedo attack "theoretically" sank the battleships. The "abandon ship" order was given and twenty thousand American sailors actually entered lifeboats and floated around a while to make it seem real.

IF WE HAD real war, there would be no such comic opera. Airplanes going two hundred miles an hour would overhaul our antiquated battleships and other floating craft like a wolfhound overhauling fat pigs. And those ships would go to the bottom without giving time to "abandon ship."

CHALLENGE HURLED AT GOVERNOR IN WAR ON LEGISLATIVE LEADERS

Verbal grenades flew thick and fast at the State House today in a fresh outburst of guerilla warfare between Governor Alvan T. Fuller on one side and the two legislators he accuses, Senator Alvin E. Bliss and Representative Martin Hays, on the other.

The most stinging shot of all was fired by Hays, who declared, in reply to the accusation that he and Senator Bliss are "political bootleggers":

..."Governor Fuller is the crowning exponent of blackguardism, villification and slander.

"The evolution from trick bicycle rider to Governor of Massachusetts has upset the equilibrium of the 'nouveau riche' Alvan T. Fuller."

MORE ORDERS OPEN AND SPEED UP MILLS

Prosperity for the year 1927 is strongly indicated in the reports of improved conditions in several New England textile centers.

Three mills are inaugurating night shifts to take care of the extra production necessitated by receipt of orders, while a fourth mill, closed for two years, has sounded its whistle, calling its operatives back to work.

In Lowell 1,500 business men organized a chamber of commerce at an enthusiastic meeting last night and heard Eliot Wadsworth, former assistant United States Secretary of the Treasury and an expert on international finance, sound a keynote of optimism.

"New England has behind it the greatest market in the world, and all the capital that it may need," he declared. "New England has always been a community of builders and developers.

BROTHER VS. BROTHER IN CANE DUEL OVER WIFE

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—A midnight duel with canes between two wealthy brothers came to light today when Colonel Edward Carrington, aged 55, of Chicago, was arrested charged with assaulting Campbell Carrington, aged 52, a New York lawyer, whom he named in a million dollar suit alleging alienation of his wife's affections.

Campbell Carrington is in Polyclinic Hospital suffering from bruises and lacerations of the face.

Colonel Carrington in West Side Court was held in $1,000 bail for a hearing Thursday. His lawyer, John J. McManus, told reporters the colonel had acted in self-defense in a "regrettable and unfortunate incident."

Colonel Carrington, who weighs around 200 pounds, told newspaper men after his arrest that he came

4 BULLETS HIT ARTIST

Although William T. Labrahan, 23, of No. 37 Knight street, Hyde Park, an artist and sculptor, fired four bullets into his body in an attempt of self destruction, today, physicians at the City Hospital believe he will recover.

The young man's father, Frank Labrahan, was awakened early today by the shouts of his son. Then came a shot. The father ran to the kitchen, where he found the young man suffering from a self-inflicted wound in the abdomen. The father grappled with the son in an effort to secure the revolver, but the younger man broke away, ran to the opposite side of the room and shot himself three times more.

The young man's mind is believed to be unbalanced, as no motive for the attempted suicide could be found.

THREE FOUND GUILTY IN TRAIN ROBBERY

John Andrews, Michael Andrews, his son, and John Boyd, all of Nashua, N. H., were today found guilty of the $65,000 Salisbury train hold-up and mail robbery last July.

The jury returned the verdict after discussing the case for less than two hours.

A sentence of 25 years in Federal prison is mandatory in all the cases.

The case was turned over to the jury to Federal Jude George K. Morris at 12:30 p. m. after his charge, which consumed barely half an hour.

Immediately after filing from the Federal courtroom, the members of the jury remained in their own room and a short time later they went to dinner. They returned to the jury

BROADSIDES FIRED BY LEADERS IN BATTLE OF BEACON HILL

"GOVERNOR FULLER is the crowning exponent of blackguardism, villification and slander. The evolution from trick bicycle rider to Governor has upset the equilibrium of the 'nouveau riche Alvan T. Fuller.'"

—Martin Hays, Representative.

"SHALL I accept the challenge of Representative Hays to tell what I have in my pigeonhole about him? I will reply to that by quoting what General Warren said to his troops at Bunker Hill: 'Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes!'"

—Governor Fuller.

"I DON'T know what a 'political bootlegger' is; I'll have to look that one up. I deny emphatically that I snoop around the State House departments for certain private ends, as the Governor alleges."

—Alvin E. Bliss, Senator.

CHALLENGE HURLED AT GOVERNOR

Hays had called his charges "deliberate and malicious falsehoods." Governor Fuller replied: "I leave it to the people of Massachusetts as to another I am given to falsehoods."

"On the Clarion monument it says: 'I will not retreat a single inch,' and that is my policy. I will not retreat from the stand I have taken."

Senator Bliss declared that he was not sure what a "political bootlegger" is, but he was certain he was not one, and he called the Governor "foolish" for incurring the enmity of the Legislature.

FULLER STANDS BY GUNS.

Representative Hays challenged Governor Fuller to "produce his stuff," but the Governor indicated that he was satisfied with the effect of his artillery fire thus far and said he for they meant he would obey the command given at Bunker Hill:

"Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes."

Fire Marshal George C. Neal entered the battle on the side of the Governor. He sharply criticised Hays and others, whom he did not name, for appearing before him as paid counsel in behalf of certain interests, especially persons and corporations seeking garages permits.

"I have said that if something was not done to stop this practice of legislators we would have a fire scandal," said the State fire marshal.

Governor Fuller attacked both Senator Bliss and Representative Hays as lobbyists who combined their duties at the State House with activities in behalf of private firms and individuals who paid them for advocating certain measures before legislative committees and State departments.

NOT SHOT AT GOVERNOR.

"The Governor criticises attorneys for representing clients, often poor unfortunates, who are many times unable to give compensation," said Hays.

"However, he is silent regarding his influence over and domination of legislation affecting his own huge private business.

"The humble little lawyer's hoe in the space of a few short years has acquired his colossal fortune.

"By the turning the point of his political life one may easily ascertain the source of his wealth and his present political power. He stands today as the crowning exponent of blackguardism, villification and slander.

"The Congress of the United States as well as the Massachusetts Legislature, has been the subject of his unwarranted attacks.

"His rise to exalted office is founded on the basest of falsifications launched against former Speaker Joseph E. Warner. His political path is strewn with victims of his vicious and unbridled tongue. What better and sadder examples can be cited than the late Congressman Ernest W. Roberts and the beloved Henry Cabot Lodge?"

"COULDN'T SAY LESS."

"I am well satisfied with the results of my statements," said Governor Fuller, following his "political bootlegger" charges. "I do not see how fairness gentlemen could say less than they have. No men could come in public life and say less."

"Will you produce your evidence, as Mr. Hays challenged you to do?" he was asked.

"That depends on developments," replied the Governor. "I think they took things very nicely, speaking with great diffidence in their replies."

"What about the information regarding Hays that you said you have in a pigeon-hole in your desk?"

"It was General Putnam who said at Bunker Hill: 'Don't fire until you see the whites of their eyes.' I am satisfied at present."

"Well, Hays said your charges are untrue, falsehoods," it was pointed out.

Governor Fuller—"You know what Theodore Roosevelt said when he was told someone called him a liar. He said, 'Who ever heard of him?' I'll leave it to the people of Massachusetts to decide."

"Whatever may be my shortcomings in political matters, I do not indulge in personalities," the Governor went on. "There is nothing personal in my attitude in the present situation.

"I am interested in good legislation. I have made certain recommendations to the Legislature and it was only when these were endangered and threatened that I felt that I might show [illegible] public some of the conditions [illegible] the surface. And if necessary I will go deeper.

ALL "NICE AND LOVELY."

"Everything is now nice and lovely. I now expect co-operation."

In an earlier statement Representative Hays declared that the Governor was angry because his transportation bill was being slighted. He added that Governor Fuller really knew nothing of transportation matters, and had no constructive ideas on the subject.

To this Governor Fuller replied today: "It is simply Representative Hays versus the people of Massachusetts. Gaston said the same thing, if I recall correctly.

"I think that when the Boston Elevated bill comes over here they will find that I have given plenty of thought to its subject, and that I probably know more about them than they think I do.

"It is because I have so many ideas on the Elevated and fear that the bill might not come over that I spoke as I did on Washington's birthday. I was not fearful as a result of what I said the bill will come over, and when it does they will find the Governor is pretty well informed."

CALLED A "HAWKSHAW."

Fire Marshal Neal said that for three or four years legislators have appeared before him as paid counsel for persons seeking permits, chiefly garage permits, for which his authorization is necessary in certain cases.

"I never went to the Governor about it, but I always said that if something was not done there would be a fire scandal," he said.

"Last Saturday Representative Hays appeared before me, as he has done in previous instances. This was on an appeal for a garage permit for the Good Shepherd at No. 414 Huntington avenue.

"Hays called me a "Hawkshaw." I asked him why. He said because I insisted on going out and finding out things for myself instead of being satisfied with evidence submitted at the hearings."

"The Governor is foolish to make war on the Legislature, for he will soon be friendless there," declared Senator Bliss, who reasserted his declination to enter into controversy with Governor Fuller.

"I don't know what a 'political bootlegger' is, I'll have to look that one up," said Senator Bliss, with a laugh. "But I deny emphatically that I snoop around the State House departments for certain private ends as the Governor alleges.

"I believe I am and the departments less than anyone in the Legislature and when I do it is in connection with my duties to my constituents. I am in the Legislature to do my job and do not propose to change for the Governor or anybody else.

TRIED TO HIRE FULLER.

"Why, Representative Hays, the House floor leader, President Wells of the Senate and myself, as Senate floor leader, have endeavored to put through for the Governor legislation forbidding legislators to appear before committees in their capacity as lawyers for business interests. But I don't see how we can get that through after these sensational attacks.

"There is no use arguing with Governor Fuller in his present frame of mind. I do not propose to dignify his charges with a direct response. They are unfair, unwarranted and untrue.

"I have given the best that is in me for seventeen years to my State, my district and my constituents, and Governor Fuller cannot take my good record away from me. I serve no political interests, nor any other interests, on Beacon Hill."

With a kind of possible action in the courts, Senator Bliss ended his statement. He said: "I still reserve my legal rights, you know."

He refused to comment further.

On the floor of the Senate Senator Bliss made a detailed denial of Governor Fuller's previous charges against him, in which the Governor called him a lobbyist paid by the Tremont electric light interests. He defended his private employment by that company and others as an efficiency expert.

BRING LOVE AND ART FROM BERLIN

Fraulein Elfriede Kistner, who, answering the call of love from Stamford, Ct., landed in Boston today from the liner Thuringia. But it was "art" that drew Fraulein Hildegarde Schulze from Berlin to this land of promise. She's enroute to Chicago.

WE'RE IN THE TRENCHES NOW ON BEACON HILL!

FIRES SECOND BROADSIDE

Governor Alvan T. Fuller, who has declared open war on legislative leaders. He charges certain factions are seeking to "punish him" for demanding cut in light rates. He will fight out battle "to a finish."

HURLS A CHALLENGE

Representative Martin Hays, one of Governor's targets. Hays now demands that Fuller "produce all the stuff" he's got against him. He wants a "real showdown."

HOME TOWN "ENEMY"

Senator Alvin E. Bliss of Malden, Fuller's fellow-townsman and object of Governor's first attack. Fuller says Bliss should go around wearing a "General Electric" sign on his hat.

BEAUTIES FROM BERLIN LAND IN BOSTON

A story of poetic love, waging for twelve years over 3,000 miles of sea; the tale of an eighteen-year-old orphan raised from security to a place in the world of art, and of thrillers of raging seas were brought to port today as the Hamburg-American liner Thuringia docked at Commonwealth Pier from Hamburg and Queenstown.

Clutching the poem she "loves the best," one of many she said Karl Richert, civil engineer, of Stamford, Ct., had written for her benefit, Elfriede Kistner, twenty, Fraulein of Berlin, gazed at the land of her sweetheart, parted from her since both were eight years old. Translated from German, it read:

"If I go to heaven and you're not there,
I'll paint your face on the golden stair;
So all the angels will know and see
How what you, dear, mean to me.

"And if you're not come by Judgment Day,
I'll know you've gone the other way;
So I'll give the angels back their wings,
Their golden harp and everything,
And just to show you what I'd do,
I'll go to H——, dear, just for you."

The lively miss was described by fellow-passengers as "the life of the voyage."

Another passenger around whom fortune has smiled was Hildegarde Schulze, en route to Chicago with Israel Fuhr as an artiste of women's fashions.

Fuhr "discovered" the eighteen-year-old fraulein in Berlin in an obscure position with Kraft & Levin, undertakers.

The liner passed through one of the most severe trips in the memory of many of the officers. She was a day behind schedule. She debarked forty-seven cabin and 114 third class passengers at this port and sailed for New York with several hundred more.

Among those landing were Miss Renate Buchhardt of Hamburg, en route to Chicago to visit her brother, Dr. Ernest Reinecke, Miss Catherine Stoton, Edward C. Openshaw and Josef Dapfer.

stick at it. Whenever a crisis develops it brings people into closer co-operation. The pendulum is swinging upward from now on."

In Fall River the Granite and Massasoit Mills, two of the larger plants in that city, are to be operated day and night until further notice. A large number of additional help has been employed and conditions in the Border City are beginning to show marked improvement after years of stagnation. It is estimated today that 85 per cent. of the mill's are operating on full time.

Mill No. 2 of the Groveland Mills at South Groveland has blown its whistle and called back its operatives. Mills No. 1 and 2 of the Groveland Mills have been closed for two years, while Mill No. 3 has been operating on part time only. Mill No. 3 also starts on full time.

From Somersworth, N. H., comes the welcome news from the Great Falls Bleachery and Dyeworks that its sheeting department is to add a night shift and operate day and night on full time. On this enlarged schedule approximately 300 skilled workers will be employed.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL HELD IN $350 FORGERY CHARGE

Brockton, March 1.—Nellie Fortuna, 14-year-old Bridgewater Junior High School pupil, appeared in Brockton Juvenile Court today and pleaded not guilty to charges of forgery and larceny of $350 from her grandmother, Mrs. Sophie Biggy of Worcester, whose bank book the girl is alleged to have taken. The case was continued a week.

Chief James B. Moore of Bridgewater told the court that the girl forged her grandmother's name and withdrew $350 on the book from a Bridgewater bank.

COLLEEN OF 18 UNKISSED

Sweet eighteen and never kissed!

This is the remarkable romantic inexperience that Miss Ethel Gruson, fair-haired Jewess with a colleen's brogue, has brought from Dublin, Ireland, to her new home in Quincy.

More curious still, the Blarney Stone itself is to blame, if blame there be! Because when one kisses Erin's storied stone, Miss Gruson explained, it would break the blarney charm to profane one's lips on an object less sacred.

Fidelity to the blarney pledge brings blessings unnumbered, she was taught as a child when first she climbed Comans castle. That is why she ran over from Queenstown to give the Blarney Stone a last smack for luck just before she sailed, and with that kiss for a talisman, expects to attain success in America.

DIAMOND SMUGGLER'S CONVICTION UPHELD

St. Albans, Vt., March 1 (A.P.)—Word was received here today that the United States Supreme Court had upheld the conviction here last year of Lieb Ritterman for illegally bringing into the United States rough diamonds valued at $162,000. Ritterman was sentenced to a year and a day in the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

After he had served three months of his sentence the United States Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the conviction and he was released. The reversal was on the ground that since the diamonds were discovered at the boundary line Ritterman had not actually brought them into the country. The government appealed to the Supreme Court. The diamonds were in a satchel which Ritterman had checked from Montreal to New York city.

BEVERLY MAN SHOT BY COP IN CHASE

According to the salesman, he was limping along on a flat tire, looking for a garage.

According to the police sergeant, who was referred to as Sergt. Thomas Higgins in an earlier edition, Geag had been ordered by the sergeant to halt in City square, but had kept on going.

The policeman said he chased him in a commandeered car, crowded the speeding Gear machine up on the sidewalk, then fired through the rear of the machine.

But despite the police story of Gear's fleeing, the police admit that the $500 worth of aluminum in the car was not stolen property.

SECOND SHOOTING.

It was Sergeant Higgins' second shooting in a year and a half, the first one occurring at Fields Corner, Dorchester, on November 15, 1925, while Higgins was attached to the Milk street station as a patrolman.

At this time Sergeant Higgins, on his way home, in attempting to break up a fight between two youths at Dorchester avenue and Park street, and to retain possession of a prisoner, shot John J. Bahilly, 30, of Mayes street, Dorchester, a bystander.

So widely did the stories of Gear and the police sergeant differ that an investigation was expected to be made by police officials into today's shooting, but there was no indication of it a dozen hours after the affair.

COMMANDS UNHEEDED.

According to the police version, Higgins was on duty in City square when he sighted a gleaming machine in the rear of which was piled a large quantity of merchandise. Thinking the driver was making a getaway with some loot, the sergeant shouted to him to stop. When the command, according to the police, was ignored, Higgins commandeered a passing machine and gave chase.

At high speed the two cars plunged along Chelsea street. Again Higgins said he called on the fleeing driver to stop and again the order was ignored.

Higgins then directed his driver to "head off" the other car at the curbing. The two right wheels of the police machine leaped the curbing and ran along the sidewalk for several yards but the speed of the car did not slacken.

When Higgins' third command to stop met with no response, according to the police, the sergeant fired at the other car. The bullet tore through the back of Gear's machine and struck him in the back, under the right shoulder.

Gear gave an entirely different version of the affair.

"I was driving along Chelsea street with the flat tire, looking for a garage," said Gear at the Relief Hospital.

"I stopped at one garage, but it was closed and I went on again to a second. They had no one to fix the tire there, but directed me to a third one.

"Just as I started away to look for this third one, bumping along on the flat tire at no more than five miles an hour, I heard the noise and felt a burn in my back. I jumped out of the car and knew I had been shot.

"Then the sergeant came running up and said I was under arrest. I told him I was shot and he took me to the hospital."

Five Burned to Death

Hibbing, Minn., March 1 (I.N.S.).—Four children of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Basford, and the father of Basford, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed their home today. The mother was rescued by her husband, a farmer.

Three Principals in Merry "Battle of Beacon Hill"

HERE are the principals in the fight to a "showdown" on Beacon Hill:

GOVERNOR ALVAN T. FULLER, forty-nine, of Malden and Beacon street—New England distributor of Packard automobiles, self-made millionaire and independent Republican in politics.

SENATOR ALVIN E. BLISS, sixty-eight, of Malden—Veteran of seventeen years in Legislature; Senate floor leader, member of important Senate committee on rules, joint committee on public institutions and chairman joint committee on cities; in private life a safety engineer for the Tenney Electric Company.

REP. MARTIN HAYS of Brighton, lawyer, floor leader of the Massachusetts House of Representatives—One of most widely known Republican legislators, member of House committee on rules and chairman of House judiciary committee.

HUSBANDLY PINCHES WIN MAIDEN NAME FOR WIFE

GIRL WHO GETS HARRIS RICHES HUNTS BANK DEPOSITS

MAYOR NICHOLS MAY FACE FIN. COM. TODAY

'BURNING LOVE' TOO HOT WHEN IT'S A COAL

A husbandly habit of pinching and burning, declared by Mrs. Helen G. Harlow of Malden to have been practiced on her by Ralph L. Harlow of Somerville, brought her a divorce and her maiden name today in Middlesex Probate Court.

After six months from date, Mrs. Harlow will cease to be that and will become Helen G. Smith once more.

She told Judge Charles N. Harris she married Harlow on October 11, 1924, and that they lived in Rockdale street, Mattapan.

On the following Fourth of July, she averred, her husband held her beneath the waves at a Maine resort, although he knew she had a horror of being ducked.

In October, on their wedding anniversary, she testified, she attempted to sit in his lap while he was playing cards and he pushed her to the floor, severely injuring her back.

Her husband, she said, had a habit of placing a lighted cigarette end against her hand as a bit of play.

But in more serious moments, she said, and to emphasize his points and make her submissive, he was addicted to pinching her and seizing the flesh of her shoulder in his fingers and turning it until she shrieked assent.

The wife's mother corroborated her testimony, and said she had remonstrated vainly with the husband.

O'CONNOR DENIES GRAFT IN SHIPPING BOARD

Miami, Fla., March 1 (A.P.).—T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, today termed the suit filed against him in New York yesterday "another flank attack by enemies of the American merchant marine."

He issued a sweeping denial of "undue favoritism" and "scandalous waste and inefficiency in the profits and living beyond his "presumptive means" as charged in a suit by John S. Hackett, a taxpayer.

CALLS CHARGE 'COWARDLY' IN MESSAGE

Mayor Nichols and his brother, Nathaniel F. P. Nichols, will appear before the Finance Commission, probably today, in an investigation regarding the charges of graft brought against the Mayor's brother, who now is deputy U. S. internal revenue collector.

The Mayor asked to be allowed to appear himself and offered to have his brother appear, but he demanded that also the man who brings the charges against Frank Nichols, Councillor Joseph McGrath, also be called upon to produce his alleged proof of graft.

The Mayor's message to the City Council against the fraternal graft charge was the most drastic that has come out of the Mayor's office during the Nichols regime.

WARNS COMMITTEE.

He termed the charge "cowardly, contemptible and vicious," and warned the council's committee on unemployment that it was subject to a fine of $1,000 and a year in jail for each member for interfering with the executive branch of the city government.

He stated chapters of the city charter prohibit the councillors from taking part in the employment of labor or the making of city contracts and noted that the only witnesses who were called before the unemployment committee were city contractors, with two exceptions, the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company, and his brother, Nathaniel F. P. Nichols.

In the first case, Councillor Joseph McGrath of Dorchester charged the telephone company with "wire tapping and eavesdropping." And in the second case he accused the Mayor's brother with securing a $225,000 ash removal contract for D. M. Hines & Company of Dorchester, and with sharing his profits secured by underpaying the laborers.

CAR RIDERS PAY $136,501 MORE

Street car revenues of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company increased $136,501 in 1926, the annual report of the trustees disclosed today.

The increase in revenue from all sources for 1926 over the total of 1925 was reported as $149,855, but the cost of operation before taxes, interest and rental charges was $182,484 greater than the previous year.

In their report the trustees declared that the 1926 arbitration award to employes, with its retroactive feature, was in the nature of a "sword made to cut both ways against the company."

AMERICAN DUKE DIES IN PARIS; GAVE LIBRARY

Paris, March 1 (A.P.).—The Duke De Loubat, an American member of the Academie des Inscriptions et Belles Lettres, is dead. The duke was born in New York in 1831 and was elected to the Academie in 1907. He founded man sprizes within the Academie for scholars. He was a commander of the Legion of Honor.

Joseph Florimond de Loubat made many gifts to the Roman Catholic Church and the title of duke was conferred on him by Pope Leo in 1893. The duke also made large donations for various public objects. In 1898 he gave Columbia University real estate valued at $1,100,000 for Columbia Library after his death.

EDISON'S RATES HIT AS HIGH

Protest against electric light rates charged by the Edison Electric Illuminating company in Watertown was filed with the Public Utilities Commission today by fifty Watertown citizens.

The petition charges Watertown rates are "unduly high, unfair and discriminatory" and the Commission is urged to review and examine traffic there.

The Watertown consumers claim they are at the mercy of the Edison company, being unable to get current for light, heat or power from any other source.

The Utilities Commission has not acted on the petition yet, although it is anticipated a date will be set for a public hearing when the residents of Watertown will be enabled to present evidence.

BUILD MONOPLANE FOR $25,000 ATLANTIC RACE

San Diego, Cal., March 1 (A.P.)—Construction of a monoplane that will race against at least one other airplane across the Atlantic Ocean this Summer, with $25,000 as the prize, was started here today.

The craft is being built for Captain Charles A. Lindbergh of the air corps reserve, who plans to hop off from Roosevelt Field, Long Island, N. Y., July 4, and land either in Paris or on the coast of France thirty-two hours later. The object of the flight is the $25,000 Raymond Orteig prize. Commander Noel Davis of the navy will pilot a tri-motored Fokker.

MINSTREL STARS ON TOES

Romeo and Juliet ~ Shakespeare's Immortal Romance

"What's in a name?
That which we call a rose, by any other name would smell as sweet."

Romeo risked his life by vaulting the walls to the Capulet garden, that he might see his lovely Juliet again. Juliet was alone on her balcony, grieving that her lover was a Montagu and therefore an enemy to her klan.

"Good night, good night! Parting is such sweet sorrow
That I shall say good night until the morrow."

Romeo quickly scaled the walls to Juliet's balcony. They declared their love and vowed that nothing but death should come between them. So great was their love they could scarcely say good night to each other.

"Wisely and slow,
They stumble that run fast."

Romeo went to Friar Lawrence, a beloved priest, who was his friend, and asked him to perform a wedding ceremony. After vainly cautioning the young man against haste, the friar consented to marry Romeo and Juliet.

"Mercy but murder,
Pardoning those that kill."

Provoked to another fight with the Capulets, Romeo killed Tybalt in a dramatic encounter after Tybalt had slain Romeo's friend, Mercutio. The angry Prince of Verona decreed that Romeo should be banished from the city.

Seek Opinions of All in Home Discussion

A new note is struck today in The Boston Evening American's "What Makes Home Happy? What Makes Home Unhappy?" discussion, in that the writer of the letter chosen for publication "speaks right out in meeting."

Mrs. Mary T. Kelley, of No. 29 Ash street, Lowell, whose spirited contribution is printed herewith, says her say on (1) brides who shy at baby carriages, (2) wives who buy their manners at delicatessen shops, (3) women who classify smoking in the parlor among the Proper Reasons for Declaring War, and (4) husbands of the "street angel-home devil" type.

U. S. Sailors Stop Seizure of Oil Tanker by Chinese

By JOHN GOETTE,
International News Correspondent.

Pekin, March 1.—American bluejackets of the U. S. S. Pigeon at Hankow today gained a bloodless victory over a band of Chinese soldiers who had seized a Standard Oil steamer, the Meiloong. The Chinese were disarmed without a shot being fired.

One hundred Chinese soldiers seized the vessel at Shasi and took her to Hankow, where Pigeon's bluejackets boarded and piloted her alongside the U. S. S. Isabel, another American river gunboat.

Caught between the two, the Chinese soldiers were disarmed without a fight. They were marched ashore and the American consul sent notice to the Chinese officials that the arms would be turned over to him.

Nationalists Claim Victory at Sungkiang

Shanghai, March 1 (A.P.)—Nationalist sources today declare that Marshal Sun Chuan Fang's troops defending Shanghai had suffered another defeat near Sungkiang, 28 miles south of here.

A battalion of the Coldstream Guards arrived at Hong Kong from England today aboard the Kinfauns Castle.

MILD PLAY TO BE STAGED AT SOMERVILLE

Somerville folks who threw up their hands in holy horror at the staging of the play from the book, "Simon Called Peter," presented for one night at the Somerville Theatre, may find the play once more staged tonight, but as augmented that it will more resemble "Simon Simon."

The book itself was suppressed some time ago, but the play was given to a crowded audience on Monday night, an audience which demanded six or seven bows from the star performers.

But then the protests came, and finally Alexander Arthur Viano and Director Philip Sheffield went into conference with Mayor Leon M. Cornwell. At the conclusion of this meeting the manager announced that he would take off the drama, but added that, as he could not rehearse his players in time to produce another show tonight, he would repeat "Simon Called Peter."

But with many and many an expurgation.

FALL RIVER MAN HELD FOR PISTOL TRAGEDY

Fall River, March 1 (A.P.).—Raoul Martins was held for the grand jury in District Court today on a charge of manslaughter, and was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction for being armed without a permit. He gave $2,000 bail.

Martins was arrested in connection with the death of Wilfred DeMuth on February 16. Albert Bois told the police Martins shot Demuth while showing him a revolver. Martins claims it was Bois who accidentally fired the shot.

BROTHERS IN CANE DUEL OVER LOVE

to New York to get evidence in his suit against his wife for absolute divorce and also in the alienation action.

Accompanied by two detectives and his lawyer, James McManus, the colonel said he went to his wife's house in West 74th street and watched outside the door. After a time, his brother emerged from the house. The duel with canes followed.

Mrs. Carrington, the colonel's wife, declined to see newspaper men, but over the telephone she said she did not know that her husband had been arrested or that Campbell Carrington was in a hospital.

"I am not very well," she said, "and I don't care to discuss the case until I see my lawyers."

Although the assault occurred about midnight, it was not until several hours later that it was brought to the attention of the police by a member of the staff of the hospital. The younger brother had first visited a doctor who advised him to go to the hospital.

The younger brother appeared dazed and police were called. Later, he gave information which led to the arrest. Hospital authorities said this afternoon that Carrington was resting and would be permitted to go to his home during the day.

Husband and Wife Are Both Suing for Divorce

Chicago, March 1 (A.P.)—The arrest of Colonel Edward Carrington in New York early today on charges of assaulting his brother, Campbell Carrington, brought the two into direct conflict a month or so after their indirect opposition here at the hearing of the Colonel's divorce suit and the counter action of Mrs. Anna Walsh Carrington.

The case, set for call last Wednesday, was continued until April because of a crowded court calendar.

Mrs. Carrington sought an early hearing on the allegation that Colonel Carrington, once a campaign manager for Theodore Roosevelt and vice-president of the Encyclopedia Americana, Inc., placed a stigma against her name by his suit for divorce which named his brother as co-respondent.

Colonel Carrington charged Mrs. Carrington and her brother-in-law had maintained an apartment in New York city, and also had been together in Puerto Saranac, N. Y. Mrs. Carrington in her counter divorce bill charged her husband with cruelty, drunkenness and failure to provide, and mentioned a correspondent in Chicago.

Colonel Carrington charged his wife occupied an apartment with his brother and introduced a letter he attributed to his brother.

In asking alimony, Mrs. Carrington said her husband had an income of $75,000 a year, but he insisted it was $12,000. She was awarded $100 a week and counsel fees until the dispute is settled.

Colonel Carrington also was the target of a suit filed by Miss Elinor Snyder, his stepdaughter, asking $25,000 for personal injuries. She charged he beat her.

FRENCH CABINET PUTS O. K. ON U. S. DEBT PAYMENT

Paris, March 1 (A.P.).—The Cabinet today approved the tentative text of the Franco-American provisional debt payment agreement.

Paris, March 1 (A.P.).—News from Washington that Secretary Mellon of the United States Treasury was satisfied with Premier Poincare's proposal to make a provisional payment of $10,000,000 on the French war debt June 15 was received without enthusiasm or criticism. It had been generally understood yesterday that acceptance was assured, although government officials were reticent.

The indifference of the public is taken as an indication that the Premier has impressed the country by his success in pegging the franc that it is ready to leave him a free hand for almost anything.

Loud "Cackler" Lays 71-2 Inch Egg of 61-2 Ounces

Bakersfield, Cal., March 1 (A.P.)—An eight-months-old Leghorn hen which cackles louder and lays bigger and better eggs than any other hen in his flock of 5,000 is giving L. J. Latray, poultryman, something to think about.

One of the eggs on exhibit here weighs 6½ ounces, is 6 inches long and 7½ inches in circumference. It is equal to about three ordinary eggs in food content, Latray said.

An egg like this arrives every other day at the Latray farm.

PLAN DRIVE TO RESTORE N. E. SHIPPING

Prominent men interested in shipping will meet at a luncheon in the Hotel Statler on March 16 as the preliminary step to launching a drive to bring back to New England its old-time shipping supremacy.

As preparation for the drive a group of commercial agents of the Merchant Fleet Corporation of the United States Shipping Board visited Boston, lunched at the Chamber of Commerce and inspected the local waterfront.

The party included F. M. Darr manager of the inland office section of the United States Shipping Board at Washington; T. Park Hay of Chicago, L. C. Neff of Cincinnati, J. T. Smith of Detroit, D. F. Washburn of Kansas City, R. S. Hawkins of Memphis, R. P. Amo of Minneapolis F. L. Jordan of St. Louis, D. N. Hisler, special traffic representative of New York, and P. J. Gavin, recently reappointed traffic manager at Boston.

Accompanying the traffic men were Captain J. M. Hoffman, vice-president and general manager of the Boston Tidewater Terminal, Inc., J. J. Halloran, assistant manager of C. H. Sprague & Son, Inc.; Percy L. Stuart of the American Republic Line; J. C. McDonald, auditor of the shipping board here; George D. Rogers and Arthur Lane of Rogers & Webb, local agents of the Yankee Line; Leo J. Coughlin, traffic manager of the Tidewater Terminal; Frank Davis, manager of the maritime bureau of the chamber of commerce, and Charles F. McSorley, assistant manager of the maritime bureau.

4 FIREMEN HURT IN PAWTUCKET

Pawtucket R. I. March 1.—While four firemen clutched the empty air in vain and desperate search for a handhold, the ladder beneath them and on which they had been fighting a fire in Main street today sagged and then snapped at the third floor, injuring all four men, one suffering a broken leg in the fall.

America's oldest French language newspaper, Le Jean-Baptiste, lost its offices and plant in the fire, of undetermined origin. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

So fiercely was the fire burning when the first apparatus arrived that a second alarm was sent in immediately. The inside of the newspaper plant was a furnace, and the firemen were unable to enter. Ladders were placed against the side and the firemen swarmed up to attempt to attack the heart of the fire from the windows.

When the ladder at one end of the building snapped under its weight of four men, Ladderman William O. Mack was thrown down two stories, landing on an ell. He suffered a broken leg and internal injuries and was rushed to a hospital immediately. Ladderman Louis J. Hizardi suffered painful bruises and lacerations in his two-story fall.

DEATH OF HORSE COSTS MILTON DOCTOR $700

A jury in Norfolk Superior Civil Court today returned a verdict of $700 against Dr. John T. Reynolds, proprietor of the Blue Hills Riding School, Milton, in the suit of Alphonse J. Cavedon, Rhode Island horseman, for loss of his mare, "Cleopatra."

Cavedon testified that he placed Cleopatra in the stables of the defendant on May 1, 1926, with the understanding that he could sell for a fair price. He charged that Reynolds drove the horse seventy-five miles and that she died the next day.

FEMININE COL. HOUSE VICTOR IN OKLAHOMA

Oklahoma City, March 1 (A.P.).—Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, depicted as a feminine "Col. House" by her political opponents, has whipped the State Senate into line and will continue as confidential secretary to Governor Henry S. Johnston.

A resolution introduced by Senator Jess Pullen asking her dismissal on a charge she hampered formulation of legislative plans by frequently refusing legislators audiences with the Governor was tabled by a vote of 26 to 3. The resolution later was expunged from the Senate records by a vote of acclamation.

GIRLS WHO ESCAPED ARE FOUND IN ROOMING HOUSE

Two girls, both in their teens, who recently escaped from the House of Good Shepherd, Roxbury, by scaling an eight-foot wall, were today arrested in a rooming house in Tremont street, by Patrolman Marshall of the Milk street station.

They are Anna De Orio and Eva Gallant. In court the De Orio girl pleaded guilty to larceny form a department store. Both were sent back to the House of Good Shepherd.

MRS. MOLLICA WINS SUIT

Judge Prest in Suffolk Probate Court allowed the petition of Mrs. Jennie Mollica, wife of Dr. Zachary A. Mollica, resident superintendent of Harley Hospital, Dorchester, who brought a suit for separate support. Mrs. Mollica was given $25 a week. Their son Robert is to remain in the home of Dr. Mollica's parents, where Mrs. Mollica is to be permitted to visit him.

Mrs. Mollica has also brought suit against Rose A. M. Harley, superintendent of Horley Hospital charging alienation of the affections of her husband.

NEWFOUNDLAND CLAIMS IN LABRADOR UPHELD

London, March 1 (A.P.).—Newfoundland's claim to ownership of the strip known as the Labrador "coast" is held by the Privy Council to have been "made out in substance," with two reservations, the Lord Chancellor announced today.

Ownership of the strip, which consists of approximately one-fifth of the Labrador peninsula, along the Southern coast, was disputed between Newfoundland and the Dominion of Canada.

URGES JURY TO CONVICT MILLER 'IN 15 MINUTES'

New York, March 1 (A.P.)—Summations in the Daugherty-Miller trial ended today.

United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner concluded the longest resume of a case in the history of the local Federal Court with a plea that Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney-General, and Thomas W. Miller, former custodian, be found guilty.

They are charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States of their best services in connection with the allowance of a $7,000,000 claim for the proceeds of shares of the American Metal Company impounded as enemy owned. It is alleged they participated in a $441,000 "bribe."

"It shouldn't take you more than 15 minutes to find Miller guilty," Buckner said in conclusion. "When you take up the question of Daugherty's guilt or innocence if you understand the evidence, it should not take you much longer. Don't let him fool you with pleas for sympathy.

"If you let Harry M. Daugherty go free, you are virtually saying to every prosecutor in the United States: 'Just run along and prosecute the pickpockets and the rest of the small fry, but don't bother the higher-ups.

COOLIDGE SEES HOPE FOR NAVY PARLEY

Washington, March 1 (A.P.)—President Coolidge still hopes for a five-power agreement further to limit naval armament.

While he has not had opportunity to examine carefully the favorable replies to his suggestion received from Great Britain and Japan, and the unfavorable answers from France and Italy, it was said at the White House today he did not regard those communications as forecloing the possibility of such agreements as he has in mind.

The proposals made by the President to the powers were confined strictly to "limitation of armament," and were not intended by Mr. Coolidge to imply plans for reduction of armament. The President attaches significance to this, in view of the form of some of the replies.

OBREGON WILLING TO SEEK RE-ELECTION IN MEXICO

Mexico City, March 1 (A.P.)—Former President Obregon admits there is a possibility of his being a candidate in the 1928 presidential elections. In a statement intended to clear up the present political situation, he expresses the hope that the so-called anti-re-election's groups may create public sentiment against his candidacy, thus allowing him to continue in private life.

He asserts, however, he is ready to serve his country if a majority of the citizens clearly indicate a desire that he again participate in politics.

SMUGGLER TO SERVE TERM

Burlington, Vt., March 1.—Lieb Ritterman, young Belgian caught in St. Albans some time ago with a fortune in diamonds, must return to Atlanta and finish serving his sentence as a smuggler. At present Ritterman is out on bail, for the Circuit Court of Appeals set aside the Federal District Court's finding of guilty after Ritterman had served about three months of his sentence.

United States District Attorney Harry B. Amey then took the case to the United States Supreme Court, which has upheld the verdict of the District Court. Ritterman now must return to Atlanta for from between six and seven months. The diamonds he had on him at the time of his arrest were assessed by the United State government at $120,000.

THREE SAILORS CAPTURED AS HOLDUP MEN

Staging a Wild West leap from one speeding automobile to another, Inspector Stephen Flaherty of Boston police headquarters today captured three United States sailors as alleged holdup men and placed the driver of their machine under arrest as an accessory.

Flaherty's revolver, thrust into the face of the sailors' driver, brought to an end a long chase in the South End, following a holdup in which a Dorchester man was pushed into an alley, given a severe beating and robbed of $50. The alley was located near the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Northampton street.

ON SHIP AT NAVY YARD.

The sailors gave their names as William J. Dodds, 23, Aiton H. Allen, 23, and James Adair, 27, all attached to the U. S. S. Conyngham of the destroyer fleet now tied up at the navy yard. They were held in $5,000 each when arraigned in court.

Bartlett Holmes, 28, negro, of No. 73 West Rutland street, South End, a taxi driver was charged with accessory after the fact to robbery. He was held in $2,000.

William Campbell of Millett street, Dorchester, was the victim of the holdup. He later appeared at headquarters and police said identified the three sailors as his assailants.

George Byrne of No. 21 L street, South Boston, motoring along Massachusetts avenue, witnessed the holdup and, as he jumped from his car to aid the victim, the three assailants, he said, leaped into a taxicab and fled. He followed and picked up Flaherty a few hundred feet away.

LEAPS TO RACING AUTO.

The chase proceeded, at high speed, to Dedham street, where Flaherty called on Holmes to stop. When he failed to do so, Byrne pulled his car close to the taxicab, both cars going at high speed. Gun in hand, Flaherty leaped. As he swayed perilously on the running board of the cab, he leveled his gun at Holmes' face and forced him to stop.

HOLD UP BRITISH VISA FOR ROGER N. BALDWIN

Paris, March 1 (A.P.).—The application of Roger N. Baldwin, of New York, director of the Civil Liberties Union, for a British visa has been referred by the British Passport Bureau here to the home office, it was learned today.

No reason was given for this action, but it is believed it was in connection with Baldwin's activities at the recent International Congress of oppressed nations in Brussels, at which British and American "Imperialism" was assailed.

London, March 1 (A.P.).—An official at the Allen's Branch of the Home Office said today the British visa of Roger N. Baldwin of New York had not been refused, but was held up pending consideration. Under the circumstances he declined to discuss the case further.

WOMAN SENTENCED FOR "CHARGING IT" TO DEAD

An indefinite term at Sherborn Reformatory for Women fell to the lot of Florence Collins when she pleaded guilty before Judge Murray in Municipal court today to larceny of clothing by means of using the coin check of a woman who was deceased. Four officers testified she had committed larcenies in almost every department store in the city. She appealed.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames of Boston and Party to Take Motor Tour of North African Classic Lands

A GLANCE INTO THE CONTE ROSSO'S PASSENGER list, just as this luxurious liner is about to steam out of New York and point her prow across the Atlantic, discloses a superlatively important Boston set on board. And could we but glance through the passports of these same travelers, what storybook countries and romantic ports we'd find them bound for. There's the F. Lothrop Ames party for one, with trunks and "boxes" brimful of travel and Summery togs such as smart femininity provides for a North African motor tour—right across that sun-drenched continent through Morocco, Algeria, and Tunisia. Mrs. Ames, a distinguished Boston matron, chaperons on this fantastic journey her popular and attractive debutante daughter, Miss Mary Ames, and her attractive niece from New York, Miss Elizabeth Woodward.

THEY LEAVE THE CONTE ROSSO WHEN SHE TOUCHES at Gibraltar and cross into Africa, there to seek new travel thrills and go over the old caravan routes in those perfectly equipped motor coaches that make desert travelling a luxury experience. The whole Northern African country is in their itinerary, mysterious Morocco and vivid Algeria and beautiful Tunisia. And all those towns newly opened to the traveler, whose names have figured much in headlines—Biskra, Casablanca, Marrakech, the country of the Riffians so recently making history. Mrs. Ames and her party will be away several months, probably.

MRS. CHARLES FANNING AYER IS IN NEW YORK, saying bon voyage to her attractive daughter, Miss Theodora Ayer, who sails away to the Old World on the Conte Rosso, that has aboard so notable a Boston contingent. Miss Ayer and her fellow traveler, Miss Marian Gray, go through the Mediterranean to Italy and will roam about that country and travel elsewhere on the Continent until next June—a marvelous prospect of enchanting carefree travel it appears to the stay-at-home! Mrs. Gustavus D. Parker of Bay State road and her relative, Miss Mollie Adams of Chestnut Hill, are Conte Rosso passengers outbound for foreign shores and travel thereon in a vagrant, unplanned way particularly pleasant.

MRS. JOSIAH H. QUINCY and her son, Edmund Quincy, are on the Conte Rosso from Boston. The Quincys are bound for France on one of the journeys that take them frequently to the other side and keep them there indefinitely, for so long or short a period as fancy dictates. Washingtonians in whom Boston society is very definitely interested—the C. P. R. Rodgerses—are booked in the Rosso's interesting list, Mrs. C. P. Rodgers, Miss Virginia Rodgers, Miss Alicia Rodgers and C. P. R. Rodgers, Jr., are in this family group.

WITH ALL HER PAINTING KIT PACKED UP, Mrs. Frank A. Bourne of Mount Vernon street seeks Southern Spain as an inspiration for her brush. She and Mr. Bourne have embarked on the Rosso and travel across with some Philadelphia friends, Mr. and Mrs. Nicola D'Ascenzo. After Spain, Mrs. Bourne goes to Italy, and may carry the jaunt still farther by crossing the great inland sea to Morocco to paint for a bit. They'll be away until June, and what more interesting play ground can an artist arrange for herself?

THE CONTE ROSSO IS THE HONEYMOON SHIP for Boston's newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Guild, whose marriage ceremonial last Saturday brightened the last Saturday of February. Mrs. Guild was Miss Jane Peters, and the wedding was celebrated with due pomp and ceremony in the Arlington Street Church. Mr. and Mrs. Guild will be away two months or more. It is indeed a more than ordinarily interesting company crossing the Atlantic on one steamship.

STAYING IN TOWN JUST SUFFICIENTLY LONG to give her exhibition a personal send-off, Mrs. Emily Burling Waite, the artist, has gone back to Newport and her studio work there. Boston is enjoying her etchings and portraits hung at the Twentieth Century Club and on Sunday enjoyed meeting Mrs. Waite herself at a tea and private view. Hailing from Newport, many of Mrs. Waite's etchings are of bits of the ancient architecture that give the older portion of the town such and interest to lovers of Americana.

Few Things That Make Homes Unhappy

THE young bride who is more interested in motor cars than she is in baby carriages evidently forgets that a baby is the masterpiece of God and brings with it happiness a thousandfold, while the pleasure of the motor car is but fleeting and, too often, alas! brings death in its wake.

The "delicatessen wife" is another who creates unhappiness in the home. Whenever she stays down street too long she gets up one of those "all-done-while-you-wait" dinners.

MATRIMONIAL BARQUE HEADED FOR ROCKS.

What's the result? Indigestion. Tempers become irritable and eventually the matrimonial barque is discovered headed for the rocks.

The over-fastidious wife is still another who makes trouble. Her good man must not smoke in the parlor, because it "spoils the draperies." And, oh, mercy! if he happens to let the ashes drop on her rugs, she is up in arms.

Well, it is quite true that smoke will discolor draperies, but what of it? A few minutes' work will restore their natural color. As for ashes, they are said to be a splendid disinfectant and the work of cleansing rugs will keep the body lithe and supple.

"STREET ANGEL"—"HOME DEVIL" HUSBAND.

Too severe on my own sex? Wait!

The "street angel" and "home devil" husband is worse than the devil himself. There never was, nor never will be, any happiness where this monster resides. I could write a volume on this type of man if space and rules permitted.

"Oh, give me a home with a sweet babe or two;
A mansion palatial? Ah, no!
But just a wee cottage where true love abides,
For God will watch o'er it, I know."

SENIOR COUNCIL QUITS AT PRINCETON AUTO BAN

Princeton, N. J., March 1 (A.P.)—In protest against the ban imposed by the board of trustees of Princeton University against use of automobiles by students, the senior council, the student governing body, has resigned.

The council's letter of resignation to the student body says the trustees' ruling was "reached with disregard for student opinion," and while the council was taking its stand on the automobile question, it was fighting for the principle of self government.

POLICE PROBE ATTEMPT TO BURN SCHOOLHOUSE

North Dartmouth, March 1 (A.P.) What firemen assert was an attempt to burn the Hixville school here last night was being investigated by Dartmouth police today. Two waste baskets full of paper were set ablaze under the basement steps and a large quantity of wood had been thrown into the furnace. Discovery of the fire by a passerby before it gained headway prevented serious damage. The school is in session today.

How to Have Soft, Pretty White Hands

Many women will undoubtedly be glad to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, pretty hands regardless of the work they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint into the hands occasionally, preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties, whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does she should have pretty hands, as they are really the true marks of refinement. A few applications of Ice-Mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

$12,000,000 REFUND SOUGHT FOR DOHENY

By WILLIAM S. NEAL,
International News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, March 1 (I.N.S.).—The celebrated oil leases that ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall made to companies of Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair will become the centre of a new fight in future Congresses, it seemed today.

Friends of Doheny are expected to present a demand to Congress for repayment of $12,000,000 that Doheny companies spent on oil storage tanks at the Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, naval base and for oil actually furnished the navy.

The Supreme Court, in its sweeping decision setting aside the Doheny leases in the Elk Hills naval oil reserve on the ground of fraud and illegality, held that the question of reimbursement was a policy one for Congress to decide.

Should the high court, as many legal experts now predict, also set aside the Teapot Dome leases to the Mammoth Oil company, stocks of also will face a big loss.

More than $20,000,000 was invested by Sinclair interests following the Tea Pot Dome lease, government attorneys estimate. This included approximately $1,000,000 on storage tanks at the Portsmouth, N. H. navy yard.

KERENSKY IN U.S. TOMORROW

New York, March 1 (A.P.)—Alexander Kerensky, Minister of Justice and later head of the first revolutionary government set up in Russia after the overthrow of the Czar in the early days of the great war, is a passenger on the liner Olympic, due in New York tomorrow morning.

This was learned today by the Associated Press in response to a message of inquiry sent to the liner. His reason coming to the United States is not known.

STORE ROBBED SECOND TIME WITHIN A YEAR

For the second time within a year burglars broke into Richardson's store, at No. 645 Atlantic avenue, and stole about $100 in cash, cigarettes, suitcases, bill folders and other merchandise valued at probably $500. The break was discovered by Joseph Halleran, day watchman, when he opened the store today.

DEATH PENALTY 'HOLDOVER OF MIDDLE AGES'

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Capital punishment was criticised as a "holdover from the middle ages when all humanity believed in witches," at the League to Abolish Capital Punishment meeting in the Hotel Pennsylvania.

The speakers included Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing prison, who declared he was "more convinced than ever of the futility of capital punishment."

The league officials said, is facing a critical period in its history, since a two-year survey shows North and South Dakota and Minnesota have refused to re-establish the death penalty; Michigan is debating the problem, and in California, Nebraska, Massachusetts and New York efforts are being made to abolish the death penalty.

The league feels that its success depends on victory in the latter four States.

Dog House Would Be All Right if Otto Only Had a Dog

West Orange, N. J., March 1 (A.P.).—Parental injunction today restrained financial operations of Otto Szandt, 12. Otto borrowed $2 from the West Orange Trust Company in the security of "initiative, confidence and personality," with interest at 6 per cent., to complete a doghouse fund. But Otto has no dog, says his father, Julius, and the money must be returned.

Besides, his father thinks a violin or an express wagon would be much more useful than a doghouse, in view of the fact that Otto has no dog.

JEWISH WOMEN'S COUNCIL TO DANCE IN BROOKLINE

The Boston Council of Jewish Women's annual dance and entertainment will be held next Saturday night in Whitney Hall, Brookline, the combined efforts of the senior and junior councils affording the histrionic amusement for the evening. Mrs. I. K. E. Prager of Allston is in charge.

On March 9 Miss Dorothy Adlow, art lecturer and critic, will discuss the third lecture in her course on "The Understanding and Enjoyment of Art" for council members at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. It will be an illustrated talk on "Great Portraitists."

CHAPLIN FACES $1,000,000 TAX BILL

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH,
International News Correspondent.

Washington, March 1.—Charlie Chaplin's meteoric flight to fame from the slums of London to a pinnacle of film-comedy success is being written into the records of the Treasury Department.

Special Federal investigators have been sent to New York and Los Angeles to conduct an exhaustive probe of Chaplin's affairs so that his Federal tax liability may be determined, it was learned today.

Chaplin already is under bond of nearly a million dollars to meet huge tax assessment levied by the bureau of internal revenue, immediately after the sensational divorce suit was started against the film funny man by Lita Gray Chaplin.

After the examiners' reports are considered by Commissioner of Internal Revenue D. H. Blair, Chaplin will be handed a bill by the treasury for probably a million dollars, alleged to be due on back taxes.

Chaplin will then be given an opportunity for hearing before the appeals division of the revenue bureau, where an effort will be made to adjust the assessment to prevent a subsequent appeal to the courts.

NEWSPAPER ADS UNSURPASSED, SAYS EXPERT

The value of a newspaper as a medium for department store advertising was stressed today by Edward W. Young, advertising and publicity expert. That department store advertising reflected in quite a large degree the higher standard of tastes and desires of women as caused by newspapers also was included in this man's reflections on the tremendous development and growth of the profession during the last decade.

To a woman's influence Mr. Young paid marked tribute, for with her, he said, "is felt the marketing and advertising of nearly every product of modern usage from stainless steel knives to the more artistically designed and richly upholstered limousine."

EXPECT GOOD ADS.

Mr. Young in an advertising expert of long standing. His affiliations have been with Conrad's, where he was advertising manager for the past year; the Lindner Co., Cleveland; Bonwit Teller & Co., New York, as well as with magazines and other large advertisers.

"Just as the woman of today is educated to expect more of her favorite newspaper in way of special departments and special information, so does she expect a more carefully prepared advertisement of interest and convince her. This has brought about a higher standard of newspaper copy," he said.

NOTHING ITS EQUAL.

Mr. Young today assumed the publicity directorship of The Shepard Stores, a position replete with responsibilities.

"Advertising today is becoming more of a study of actions and reactions of human nature. With the broad scope of women's activities today, there comes a keener perception and appreciation of the clothes they wear, the articles they use in the home of utility nature and naturally in the so-called, sometimes erroneously, luxuries."

FIRE DESTROYS MALDEN HOME

Fire of unknown origin today virtually destroyed the home of Charles Freeman, No. 17 Brentwood street, Malden.

Freeman was aroused in time to lead his family to the street before their escape was cut off.

Firemen were handicapped in fighting the blaze by the low pressure in the fire hydrants. The blaze originated in the cellar, and had reached the first floor, before Freeman was awakened by clouds of smoke.

The family hastily gathered a few wraps and fled. Most of their belongings were destroyed.

An excited neighbor added to the confusion by sending in an alarm from Box 76 while firemen were already on the way to the scene in response to a previous alarm from the same box.

Goldy and Dusty

Goldy and Dusty, probably the most popular pair of radio entertainers in the country, will return to WEEI, as the Well Dressed Twins, Wednesday evening. On Goldy and Dusty's return to Boston they bring their banjo player which will enable them to give the same diversified program that made them so distinctly popular over the WEAF network.

Starting at 8:00, The "Well Dressed Twins" will open their broadcast with an old time minstrel number entitled "Walk Jawbone." Not forgetting the children in the audience they will sing, "Froggies Lullabye." Goldy will be heard in a solo, "Your Smile." Then the first Banjo Hour of the evening, "Yankee Rose." Another old time minstrel favorite, "Stop Your Ticklin' Me," follows by Goldy and Dusty.

But this is by no all for we hear the good news that the program sponsors have engaged Goldy and Dusty for a thirteen week period.

RADIO DIALOG

by C. WILLIAM RANKS

LAST night we went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Not-So Average People. Their radio was simply grand; it was magnificoent and supercontentatious.

However, we expressed a desire to hear some music. "Certainly" acquiesced the host. "Now George let me do it," said the Mrs. jumping up. But beating us all in the mad rush to the set were Junior and Elsie, who both screamed, "Let me show Mr. Radio how I can tune in California." The result was that we hopefully took a seat and tried to look expectant. We did not need to expect very long—for Mr. had sent everyone away and was turning the dials. Speaking to Mrs. we remarked, "Last night was pretty bad with that static."

"Oh, no," says Mrs. "Our set never gets static. You see we purchased the most expensive set in the store and while common sets receive those atmospheric disturbances we have always felt it our duty to uphold the best traditions of American life. For the sake of the children you know."

We were still expecting some music so Mrs. went to assist the Mr. A slight of cracking and we felt relieved again and we settled back for the announcer to make his speech. But the husband had gone to supper or something for not a sound was heard. So Mr. jumped up to tune in the next station. After turning the dials and the volume control and juggling the switch and moving the rheostats, he heard a faint whistle and commanded us "to be silent."

But it was only Junior who was coming in the back door. "Say Mom," announced this bright young sister. "You left the battery on the garage."

Last night was another excellent night for distant reception. WSAI, WEAF, WGBI, WJZ, WABC, WPG, KDKA, WARS, WIOD, WFCH is the list; not long but representative of conditions. Two new ones were WGBI, Scranton, Pa., and WARS of New York State (?). Stations on all wave lengths were about equally strong, with little fading or static.

* * *

Somehow or other WBET did not come through as well as expected last night. In the first place there was a decided heterodyne whistle on and around WBET's wave. And the signal strength had nothing like the punch of the other locals.

* * *

Out of WNAC the tenor and bass duet, "Dean Yo Cry, Ma Honey," was well done. Messrs. Belcher and Carreiro may not have the prestige and fame that some others have, but were they substituting for some famous stars we venture that the difference would be slight, if any. With the aid of a violinist these two gentlemen held the ear for the most important period of the whole day: 9 to 10 in the evening.

That the WNAC program director gave them this hour shows that he believed them a worthy feature of the day. We agree with him.

Later in the evening, oh, much later, we heard Del Castillo at the organ. We wonder when Del goes to sleep. Certainly he does not at the organ.

For some reason or other the Harvesters always present an attractive program. As might be expected, it is a hard task to present weekly improvement month after month. Yet if the Harvesters have not, they have also not become poorer. Their selection is always attractive.

Last night they traveled to India. An hour is long enough to keep sustained interest. Possibly if the period was stretched out to an hour we might not find it so attractive.

As we listened to WPCH of New York city the announcer at the local dance palace was having a hard time making announcements. For one thing, some one had stolen his table and he had to hold the microphone in his hand as he talked. To make it worse, the orchestra discovered that its supply of music had been exhausted and went looking for more, leaving Mr. Announcer talking until the musicians could return. But we became tired before he did.

WABC of New York city presented selections from Faust in a very pretty operatic feature by the Atlantic Ensemble.

Other features which we only had time to hear bits of were the Gypsies, Ruud light opera, the Square and Compass Trio and the Dandies of Yesterday." All in all, it was a very pleasant evening for us.

BRITAIN DEFIED BY TROTZKY

Moscow, March 1 (A.P.)—Making his first appearance after months of retirement, Leon Trotzky, former commissar for War and Marine, has launched a bitter attack against Great Britain. Addressing a gathering he charged that Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, and his party had ordered the execution of fifty strikebreakers in Shanghai.

"We would drown these foreign executioners and aid in sending them to perdition," Trotzky added.

Referring to the British protest against Soviet propaganda, Trotzky objected to Chamberlain's action which he said, was "to discredit the Soviet's attention from Chinese hate England increased her intervention there."

Previously he declared: "Europe is fast going to its economic doom while the United States is constantly rising. There can be no such miracle as a triumph by Europe over the United States."

When Trotzky rose to speak there was an outburst of cheering lasting ten minutes, with shouts of "Long live the creator of the Red Army."

SQUARE, COMPASS CLUB PLANS DINNER DANCES

The Boston Square and Compass Club will on Friday inaugurate a series of weekly dinner dances, to take place during the dinner hours from 6 to 8 p. m. The second dance will follow on March 8.

On Saturday evening members of Boston Chapter, Order of De Molay and Boston Assembly, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, will give a variety-vaudevilles how for the benefit of the members of the Boston Square and Compass Club. Edward M. Whitney, monologist and humorist, will entertain from 4 to 6 p. m. Sunday.

MEMORIAL TO RUDY PLANNED

late star may send their contributions direct to S. George Ullman, care of Rudolph Valentino Productions, No. 7260 Santa Monica Boulevard, Los Angeles, Cal., and periodically he will give word of the memorial's progress.

HOUGHTON & DUTTON CAST ON WEEI BILL TONIGHT

The evening radio audience is to have an opportunity tonight at 8:30 to hear one of the "Boston Family" Playlets, written by Josephine Parkins, and broadcast by the Houghton & Dutton Company Players, in Anne Bradford's Half-Hour for Homemakers.

The popularity of these playlets with the morning listeners has called for a republition of each of them for the evening audience.

Friends and other admirers of the late Rudolph Valentino, the screen actor whose death stunned millions throughout the world, is to have a memorial erected to his memory. The memorial became known today when it was announced by S. George Ullman, former manager for Valentino and now executor of his estate.

Friends of Valentino's admirers have been besieging Ullman with letters, asking about the memorial and urging that something definite be started, that they might contribute.

FATE OF MAIL ROBBERY TRIO WITH JURY

room at 2 o'clock and immediately began a discussion of the case.

SWEETHEART WELL'S.

In anticipation of an early verdict the courtroom and corridors adjacent were crowded with spectators and those who took part in the trial.

Pacing up and down a corridor, weeping softly, was Mary Andrews Kendrath, pretty Russian sweetheart of John Boyd, who deserted her husband in Chelsea to flee to Texas with Boyd, and who aided him in setting up a business with a part of the loot of the train robbery.

In its closing argument to the jury, the defense today stressed two points. Attorney Henry Elliot, senior defense counsel, pleaded with the jury to absolve his client, and drew on his ground that he knew nothing of the robbery and did not participate in it.

Eaton's second claim was that [illegible] & Maine train that was held up, was in conspiracy [illegible] Indictment [illegible] s and Boyd [illegible] de of Jordan [illegible] error. [illegible] rumming its [illegible] idea of Jordan [illegible] the robbery [illegible] and that the [illegible] active par-

[illegible] otted to the [illegible] for the sum- [illegible] udge Morris [illegible] on be found [illegible] in the Fed- [illegible] oints of law [illegible]

CHARGE BY JUDGE.

[illegible] involved in the case, Judge Morris declared there were only two questions for the jury to determine.

"The first question for you to determine," said the Judge, "is whether or not John Andrews took part in this robbery.

"The second question is whether or not the whole robbery was faked. Upon your determination of these facts rests the conviction or acquittal of these men."

As the jury filed from the room the elder Andrews was visibly nervous. He moved about in his seat in the prisoner's cage, but his son and Boyd were unmoved as I failed to give any evidence of interest in what was going on about them.

Immediately following adjournment of court Judge Morris went to lunch, and upon his return retired to his chambers in the Federal building. Upon his return he will be summoned as soon as a verdict is reached.

JORDAN ACCUSED.

In the closing arguments to the jury by the defence and government counsel, William Jordan was alternately denounced as a master mind and brains of the train robbery and an honest, faithful railroad worker whose good name was besmirched by confessed criminals of the lowest type.

Attorney Eaton, for the defence, pointed out that the robbery was planned with a precision that was born of a mind used to dealing with minutes and schedules—"such a mind as Jordan alone possessed of all those implicated in the trial."

"Let us consider Jordan's escape from the train," said Major Eaton. "He said he walked through the car, opened the rear door leading and then shut the door when he was outside. What in heaven's name was to stop him from pulling the bell cord then and giving the alarm?

"There was one man on the train who knew which the right bag was. The bag was kicked toward the door—off it goes—off go the men and their guns not even loaded.

"When Jordan jumped off the train he did not run. He walked there to see if the game was going right. When he saw Mike and John jump off he knew everything was safe. Not until then did he start down the track to give the alarm.

ON WRONG TRAIL.

"According to the testimony out of Jordan's own mouth, he stood on the bridge and waved a uniformed, mounted officer away from the direction which he knew John and Mike had taken."

Referring to William Hovanisian Attorney Eaton said:

"Hovanisian turned State's evidence under what terms and conditions I do not know. But this I do know from his own lips—that his story was made up in three parts. First, what he remembered; second, what he heard, and third, what the postoffice inspectors told him. Which is which?

"The government is trying to convict John Andrews on such evidence as that. It can't be done. You can't take away a man's liberty on the story told by William Hovanisian.

"Boyd thought he was crazy. I think he is too."

Throughout his argument Attorney Eaton sought to impress on the minds of the jury that the part the elder Andrews played in the robbery, according to the government's claims, had not been proven by the testimony. He declared there was nothing to show that the older man participated or even had any knowledge of the robbery.

GIVES 12 REASONS.

Attorney Eaton then gave twelve reasons why John Andrews should be acquitted because he did not participated in the robbery and why Boyd and young Andrews should be acquitted because Jordan participated in the robbery and the youths did not, therefore, as indicted.

"Was Jordan in or out of it? This is the question," declared the attorney. "Be honest. Be just. Be fair. These men are criminals, to be sure, and must be punished for what they did, but they should not be punished for something of which they are not guilty.

GRASPING AT STRAW.

The story of John Boyd and Mike Andrews that William Jordan, the bogeyman-leader, conspired with them and actually planned the $65,000 train robbery, was lauched at as a ridiculous tale by Assistant United States Attorney John W. Spaulding, in summing up the case for the government. Especially did he use derisive language in treating the testimony of Boyd in which the confessed robber declared he had $40,000, as Jordan's share of the loot on one of the roads outside Newburyport.

"After a month in jail, when Mike Andrews and John Boyd decided the jig was up, they decided to try and save John Andrews," declared Spaulding. "Then someone told them if they could link Jordan with the crime it might go easier. It was like a drowning man in mid-ocean grasping at a straw."

The government officer referred to the State witness Hovanesian as "a moron with the mind of a boy of 16."

The assistant district attorney waxed facetious in describing Boyd's story of the hiding of the $40,000 for the beggingmaster as his share of the loot.

BEDTIME STORY.

"When you want to tell your children a bedtime story" he told the members of the jury, "don't tell them about Captain Kidd or Treasure Island. Tell them about John Boyd and the treasure he left by the roadside. It is better than the story of Kidd or the Spanish Main.

"Tell them how Boyd told you he buried treasure on one of the six roads out of Newburyport, marking it with a handkerchief. It was probably on the road to Amesbury, it might as well be said.

"It is on the testimony of a self-confessed felon and perjurer that the fair name of William Jordan is being sworn away."

"Why it is impossible that Jordan would hook up with such men as these. Had he planned such a robbery, he would have selected some friend on whom he could depend. The whole story is ridiculous—that he would permit three such men as these to get away with $65,000 with no means of knowing whether or not he would ever see them again."

HIS WOODEN LEG CUTS, FRAUD FINE TO $50

Noah Brown's wooden leg aroused the sympathy of the South Boston Municipal Court today and brought about the reduction of his fine on trial in trying for an operator's license to $50.

Brown, who lives in Northampton street, Roxbury, is accused of a friend to impersonate him in his attempt to secure a driver's license, after having had his original as a cripple and illiterate. Judge Logan told him his fine would be a much heavier penalty, but because of his wooden left leg he would impose only the $50 fine.

The HOLLYWOOD GIRL

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
A HOME PAPER FOR PEOPLE WHO THINK
BOSTON, TUESDAY, MARCH 1, 1927

SECOND SECTION

Adventures of a Girl From New England in the Movie Colony

"I'd have died on the vine," she told herself rebelliously.

READ THIS FIRST

BOBBIE RANSOM, Dedham school teacher of 22, is movie-mad. For years she has been dreaming of going to Hollywood to break into pictures.

Her father and her maiden AUNT GERTRUDE refuse to lend her a cent to go to Hollywood. So does ANDREW JEROLD, who's in love with her and wants to marry her.

Then, a certain MRS. BURRAGE ordered to California for the Winter, wants a teacher to go with her to take care of her little girl, Jean. Bobbie accepts the place when she hears that Hollywood is the place where she is going to spend the Winter.

The day before she and Mrs. Burrage are to leave a telephone message comes from Mrs. Burrage. Aunt Gertrude takes it, and comes back to Bobbie, who is packing her trunks. Mrs. Burrage has changed her mind and is not going to Hollywood, after all.

After hearing the bad news, Bobbie happens to bump into MRS. PARKINS, a pretty well-to-do widow with whom her father is in love. Mrs. Parkins lends Bobbie the money.

Aunt Gertrude tells him who lent Bobbie the money. Aunt Gertrude has no use for the Widow Parkins, and is glad of a chance to turn Mr. Ransom against her.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER VII

Silence rolled across the room like ice-cold fog.

Mr. Ransom, his mouth hanging loosely open, stared first at his sister and then at his defiant young daughter. He seemed stunned, and it was more than a minute before he spoke:

"D'you mean to say, Roberta, that you asked Mrs. Parkins to let you have that money, when I had expressly told you I did NOT want you to go to Hollywood alone?"

Bobbie nodded, and drew herself up, braced for the struggle.

"I did," she said. "Now, look here, I'm not two years old, Dad, as I've been telling you for ages. And if I want to borrow money from a woman friend of mine I can't see that it's any of your business! The fact that you happen to be a friend of Mrs. Parkins has nothing to do with it, so far as I can see."

"Friend!" snorted Aunt Gertrude, from her post between the curtains in the doorway. "Friends—he's no friend of Mrs. Parkins. He wants to marry her! He's like a sixteen-year-old boy, he's that silly about her! You'd think I hadn't given the best years of my life trying to make him comfortable and happy. You'd think he'd be satisfied with his own home, and not plan to get rid of it—and turn me out in the cold to earn my living doing office work—" She began to cry, although Bobbie knew that deep down in her heart Aunt Gertrude was looking forward to the day when she could start work in an office. Any office is more exciting than keeping house for relatives.

"Putting that woman who talks like a man and paints herself up like an actress in poor Elsie's place!" Aunt Gertrude went on, sobbing loudly and brokenly. "A woman who wears pearls and diamonds when she goes to market—" And as if the thought of such a

Dawes Throws Up His Hands in Tangle of Senate Rules

Washington, March 1 (A.P.)—Vice-President Dawes confessed he couldn't unsnarl a Senate tangle today and left it to the senators themselves to settle.

Yesterday the Senate clamped down its cloture rule on the prohibition bill, giving it right of way until disposed of. But Senator Reed of Missouri reminded his colleagues today that last week they agreed to devote today to his campaign funds resolution to extend the life of the investigating committee.

After hearing both sides, General Dawes said the Senate itself would have to decide. Then the argument was resumed, promising to delay all business.

Herrick Explains to the Paris Reds That Bay State Is Supreme Authority

Paris, March 1 (A.P.).—American Ambassador Myron T. Herrick is tired of explaining American constitutional law to delegations of Anarchists and Communists asking freedom for Sacco and Vanzetti, convicted of murder in Massachusetts.

In a letter to Henri Torres, advocate for the defence in the most noted trials of Anarchists and Communists in France in recent years, the ambassador points out that such petitions must be directed to the State House in Boston, as American law makes the State of Massachusetts the sole judge concerning punishment for crimes within its borders of the nature of that for which Sacco and Vanzetti were condemned.

Meanwhile the Surete Generale, the French Scotland Yard on its own initiative increased the guard about the chancery, fearing possible demonstrations in view of the recent mass meetings of French Communists and Anarchists.

The extra precautions consisted of increasing the usual squad of policemen and detectives from five to twenty over the weekend.

The guard at the embassy itself was increased from two to four.

South is the dealer. What is the proper bidding and play?

Today the Boston Evening American publishes the second of a series of instructive articles by the world's authority on bridge whist—Wilbur C. Whitehead.

His first problem, diagramed, is solved here.

Each day the Evening American will publish a complete hand presented by Mr. Whitehead, together with a chart upon which the bidding and play may be noted. These hands may be played with cards by one, two, three or four players, before filling in the chart.

Tomorrow the Evening American will publish Mr. Whitehead's explanation of today's hand, with the important features emphasized.

Fill out your own chart and compare it tomorrow with Mr. Whitehead's method. Do this each day and carefully read Mr. Whitehead's explanation, and you will find that your knowledge of the game will progress rapidly. Compare that of your friends—the comparison may be illuminating.

Record the bids that each player should make, assuming that he does not see any of the other hands. These hands must not be bid or played "Double Dummy," i. e., as though all four hands were exposed.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 1. West opens the three of Hearts. North plays the seven. East the King and South plays the Jack of Hearts, instead of his lowest Heart, to provide for two sure Heart entries in Dummy if West holds the Queen of Hearts. If South does not play the Jack to the first trick he has no assurance of two Heart entries in Dummy, even though West does hold the Queen; West might refuse to cover the Jack if led, or might play the Queen if the eight is led, thus blocking one of the entries in either case.

Trick 8. Due to South's foresighted play of the Jack of Hearts to the first trick, Dummy takes the trick with the ten of Hearts and secures the lead, and can re-enter with the Ace of Hearts for another lead.

Trick 9. South ruffs Dummy's winning card to shorten his trumps to provide against the possibility of East's holding the two remaining trumps.

Trick 12. Dummy leads and South, with a tenace in Spades over East, takes the last two tricks and goes game on the hand.

DOORS SHUT TO HIM AT HOSPITAL

Saugus Alcohol Victim, Turned Away by Lynn Institution, Goes to Police Cell

Albert J. Leighton of Winter street, Saugus, suffering from acute alcoholic poisoning, is lodged in a cell in the Saugus police station, the only place he can find shelter, for his physician, Dr. M. H. Davis, charges that Lynn Hospital authorities refused to admit him as a patient.

He was taken to the hospital in the police ambulance, and Dr. Davis said he argued that unless his patient was admitted he might die for lack of proper attendance in his condition.

The hospital authorities remained firm in the physician's charges, so Leighton was driven back to Saugus and lodged in a cell in the police station. A policeman remained to the room, keeping him under constant surveillance. Today Leighton's condition is reported slightly improved.

Authorities at the hospital asserted the rules of the institution required that they refuse admission to all cases of diphtheria, scarlet fever and all cases of acute alcoholism, except in cases where the sufferer also is the victim of injuries.

Dr. Davis asserted that Leighton was admitted to the hospital in December, suffering from alcoholic poisoning. The records of the hospital were not available, but are to be referred to today.

'ON APPROVAL' SMART SHOW AT TREMONT

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

Accepting the tabloid rule of the theatre as your guide, you would not expect to stir more than a modicum of interest in a comedy so bereft of characters that two silly men and a pair of lovely and fair haired creatures must carry an entirety of the dramatic responsibility. Reasonable or not, the situation was exactly that at the Tremont last evening and a good rendered and wholesomely receptive audience chortled its own glee at Frederick Lonsdale's lively comedy, "On Approval." It was a flighty thing—at times brilliant, at times jarring artfully with farce. With the author's generally accepted standard of risque dialogue, and such good things that go with it, there was more than sufficient reason for the hilaration so profusely poured forth at the play's local premiere. Generally it was a gay evening because there was so little that had to be explained—every little that could bewilder a harassed playgoer.

Wallace Eddinger

Eddinger and a good rendered and wholesomely receptive audience chortled its own glee at Frederick Lonsdale's lively comedy, "On Approval." It was a flighty thing—at times brilliant, at times jarring artfully with farce. With the author's generally accepted standard of risque dialogue, and such good things that go with it, there was more than sufficient reason for the hilaration so profusely poured forth at the play's local premiere. Generally it was a gay evening because there was so little that had to be explained—every little that could bewilder a harassed playgoer.

TRIAL MARRIAGE.

"On Approval" was comedy of the thinnest texture; comedy that developed into farce of the most pronounced genus of a struggling drama. However, there was honest fun drawn out of human frailties. A pair of eager ladies early discovered another pair of uncertain victims and out of it was wrought Mr. Lonsdale's complete-ly theatrical version of what should be done about it. In working out the problem the author depended more upon the smartness of treatment than upon honest skill, but a good job was turned in and a responsive audience voiced its respect without stint.

As a theatrical venture into the realms of trial marriage, "On Approval" was more amusing than scandalous. Nor even an imaginary sin scorched its wings. But there was comedy in large measure as the two men and their ladies fair mussed through three acts of unrestrained detestation of each other.

CHATTY COMEDY.

Better comedies have been turned out by Mr. Lonsdale—but no smarter chatting on the futility of men and women of pleasure—but their own social destinies. It was just that—a chatty comedy by English folk of the upper strata, in a cast so finished in personnel hours must be about union to keep an honest balance, though privately Hugh Wakefield appeared to have something of an edge on his companions. More than any of his comrades, he gave every indication of especially belonging to the slim story. Violet Kemble Cooper, under the heavy handicap of making a good woman behave badly, gave an adequate performance. Wallace Eddinger and Vera Neilson fitted nicely into the cast. And there you are—every speaking person on the comedy is mentioned.

If the general principle that the female of the species is the purer and the male a simple victim, "On Approval" discloses new wiles by which men are snared. Anyway, there was a laugh at every turn and twist of the play. If you take it for its laughs, you win.

Coming Events

Bebe Daniels in "The Kiss in a Taxi" will be the film feature at the Metropolitan for a single week starting next Saturday.

Alice Brady, in "Lady Alone," will occupy the stage at the Plymouth, starting next Monday.

Charlot's Revue is announced as the attraction at the Park, starting next Monday.

John Barrymore, in "The Beloved Rogue," will be the feature film at Loew's State next week.

FACE TO FACE WITH MUTUAL AMOURS

FOR ART'S SAKE

In "Flesh and the Devil" at Loew's State John Gilbert and Greta Garbo win fresh honors for pulsing romance.

WILL MAHONEY HEADS BILL AT KEITH'S

Will Mahoney—he of the nimble feet, mean genius and disposition for fleeting comedy routine—is head a bill at Keith's, assisted by the Ambassador Trio and Ben Bernie and his orchestra for the remainder of the week.

Mahoney's chalice expression and whirlwind dancing is scored continuously throughout his long act.

Singing of the last century, Madame Hamilton Jefferies in her presentation of "A Forecast of Fashion," scored as well, with a parade of the future of fashions. She was assisted by the popular radio orchestra, led by Joe Rines, and a number of New York and Boston models presenting the forecast in realistic adornment.

Though fashions and ladies' clothes predominate the male audience did not seem to tire of the presentation.

Cormac, the English ventriloquist, with his dummy, is a sensation in his line with a stage setting of Whitehall, London, and the Horse Guards parade as a way of combining humor with his aptitude.

A miniature musical comedy in one short scene, headed by Bob O'Neil, drew its share of the evening's comedy, during a scene in which he is found a business on nerve and grape juice.

Further diversity of the bill. The Dodge Twins, American girls back from an European tour, present their own ideas in dances and steps that are also well received.

The remaining acts include Nora Bayes Artrill, Indian American demonstrator, who debuts as the vaudeville stage; Bob Carleton and Julia Hallew in a performance, Wallace Edinger and Vera Neilson fitted nicely into the cast. And there you are—every speaking person on the comedy is mentioned.

If the general principle that the female of the species is the purer and the male a simple victim, "On Approval" discloses new wiles by which men are snared. Anyway, there was a laugh at every turn and twist of the play. If you take it for its laughs, you win.

Continuing Shows

GLOBE—"Queen High," follow-ing its run at the Wilbur, now moves into the Shubert for a stay.

COLONIAL—Marilyn Miller in "Sunny," the sunshine musical comedy, with Jack Donahue doing his stuff.

PARK—"Honeymooning on High." Thrilling comedy of young lovers and some sneaky spirits.

HOLLIS—"Charm," a comedy of youth and romance, with an entirely new angle on sex appeal.

PLYMOUTH—"The Little Spitfire." Showing, in spite of all reports, that a Follies girl makes a good actress.

MAJESTIC—"What Price Glory," by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson's great war play.

COPLEY—"The Ghost Train." Mystery drama raised to new heights of thrills and chills.

REPERTORY—"Quality Street," Barrie's delightful comedy.

FILM AT STATE TRIUMPH OF DIRECTION

By LEO GAFFNEY

As an example of good taste in presenting the movies' pet passion—Passion—"Flesh and the Devil" at Loew's State is herewith recommended without a grumble.

And it was well so admitted, however grudgingly, that there is some justification beyond the obvious exploitation value of supplying the Hollywood twist to the title.

It was "The Undying Past" as the dramatic Scotsman wrote it, and perhaps he, too, could have used this "Flesh and the devil" catchline with something like film profits as a result.

It is this piquant title foined with the talents of John Gilbert and Greta Garbo that now produces great glee in picture house box offices. And what is more, there is value received for the patron—unless he be looking for the cheap riot often crudely hinted at in attractions of similar subject, but far less adroitly performed.

TASTY DIRECTION.

The guiding skill in keeping this yarn of Continental decadence free from the sins of the cinema is Director Clarence Brown's. Of unperheated amours there are plenty, but the particular bright flame that fires them is surely concealed. The fever is there but not the contagion.

You don't have to be an intimate terms with Sarogeon methods of guilivating nobility to sympathize with Gilbert's plight as he struggles in the toils of his poisonous charmer.

In substance the story is as old as original sin; a man desires another's wife and, naturally, there is much trouble. No novelty there. There doesn't need to be. It is simply that during the "trouble" Clarence Brown's actors appear as human beings might under the circumstances, not as the stilted show ponies of lilier pleasuredrama.

SPLENDID CAST.

Of those associated with the production nothing but praise could be uttered. Brown's direction is polished, clean and brisk. The subtitles are striking and soundly probably "lifted" from the novel. Greta Garbo is sinuously alluring as well as a deeply sensitive person. John Gilbert adds another prize portrait to his rapidly growing gallery, and Lars Hanson is to be found not far in the rear of either. To miss "Flesh and the Devil" is to lack one of the very best film shows of the time.

'FAUST' FILM AT ORPHEUM

The world's most renowned love story, filmed from Goethe's "Faust," with Emil Jannings as his star, is the screen feature at Loew's Orpheum. It is a romantic and tragic story relating the struggle between the good and evil in every man, and the temptation that power and riches offer.

Jannings gives a masterful portrayal as the aged Faust, and Camilla Horn as Ekmen plays the title character of Faust who sells his soul to the devil. Camilla Horn makes of Marguerite a lovable girl of human quality who sins and is redeemed by love. The film is a rare piece of photographic art which was directed by F. W. Murnau.

Jim Toney and Ann Norman head the vaudeville program with an amusing comedy skit, "A Man About Town." Hal Willis and Hazel MacFarlane and their "Dancing Pirates" appear in a lavishly staged act replete with pretty and clever numbers.

Frank Cook and Jean Vernon are seen in another mirth-provoker, "Oh, Amy" and West, Gates and Hanes, "Dispensers of Hilarity," pleased with songs and dances. Allen and Astley, a pair of clever comedians, and Achilles and Newman in "Old Greek Pastimes" are also on the bill.

ZIEGFELD WILL QUIT 'CORRUPT REVUES'

New York, March 1 (A.P.).—Florenz Ziegfeld, who glorified the American girl and created a new type of musical show when he launched his first "Follies"—twenty years ago, says box office madness and out-of-town visitors are to blame for the present "corrupt" condition of the theatre.

"I'm ashamed to be in the revue business with all this going on," he said today, "so I'm going to get out."

When the "Follies opens next year it will be more the old-fashioned musical comedy, with a plot, and no longer a revue.

WORSE THAN BURLESQUE.

"The modern revue," said the producer "is far worse than the old burlesque show. In fact, the revues have driven the burlesque shows out of business. The stage in New York has been corrupted to the point where it is risky to take one's mother, wife or children to the theatre. Not because there is a large public that wants filth, but because the theatrical people have gone box office crazy."

Ziegfeld entered the lists against stage immorality when police recently started a clean-up campaign and raided three legitimate shows. He telegraphed city officials a suggestion that they appoint federal censors to revues, which he said were such that they would not be tolerated in other cities.

GONE TOO FAR.

"The revues have gone too far," he said, "and I cannot go with them. Pornographic stories such as are heard in smoking cars are being acted out. Nudity has become the order of the day, and the beauty of the draped figure has been forgotten. I don't want it even said of me that I'm producing a revue."

The New York stage, he said, needs censorship, and needs it badly.

BOYS HIKE FORTY MILES, PAWTUCKET TO BOSTON

Joseph M. Gouras and Frederick Chase, Pawtucket youths, hiked from Pawtucket to Boston today. The boys left Pawtucket at two minutes after midnight and reached the office of the Boston Evening American at 8:30 A. M. today.

The distance they walked, the boys claim, was something over 40 miles.

EARL CARROLL COMEDY PLEASES AT ST. JAMES

"Laff That Off" is the cheerful and wholesome piece, in which humor is not refreshing as the sentiment is honest.

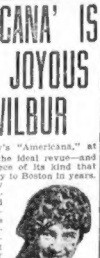
The play is built around three penniless young men, residents of Greenwich Village, who adopt a young actress. They promise each other not to fall in love with her, but they all do.

Florence Shirley, the leading lady, portrays the part of the girl, and her acting drew rounds of applause. Every member of the company did excellent work, and Walter Gilbert, who portrayed the young man whose trust is richly rewarded, came in for more than a lion's share of applause.

The stage settings are delightful in every way. "Laff That Off" should play to capacity houses during the remainder of the week.

'AMERICANA' IS MOST JOYOUS AT WILBUR

J. P. McEvoy's "Americana," at the Wilbur, is the ideal revue—and the smartest piece of its kind that has found its way to Boston in years. It is absolutely novel in construction and manner of presentation. It is devastatingly satiric and altogether the most joyous kidding of the land of the free that has ever draped a stage. McEvoy's sketches and lyrics provide the book, John Held designed the scenery and Con Conrad and Henry Souvaine the music. Special music by George Gershwin and Morris Ryskind. Staged by Allan Dinehart, dances by Stan Bailey.



Evelyn Bennett

From the moment Roy Atwell ambled to the footlights at the raising of the curtain to calmly announce in the most detached manner that the ensuing energy would transpire "for no particular reason," the audience was sure of an entertainment far off the beaten paths.

Several showgirls fluttered in and out of the interlocutor Atwell cordially invited—in fact suggested—that any conscientiously objecting patron might shoot them down at will; the Charleston dancers were especially recommended for the marksman's attention.

Having auspiciously started by kidding itself, "Americana" decided to make the job thorough. For your delectation the newspapers were especially picked on; headlines, pictures and "funnies." But perhaps the less said about this the better.

Nothing was sacred, much less "show business" itself, which had to take the worst of it. The movies were hit hard, theatrical producers suffered more body blows, and the first act finale—took the new American opera for the most violent "pride" of the evening.

The star performer was—all hands! If you revelled in the Atwell humor—and there was Low Dries and Charles Butterworth to follow, Evelyn Bennett and Georgia Ingram led the feminine forces and you couldn't say which was your favorite.

Dorothy Mackaill Will Make "Crystal Cup"

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS,
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28.—Dorothy Mackaill's troubles with First National have been amicably arranged. The dove of peace, while not exactly flip-flapping loudly, is at least perching comfortably for the moment and will be so long as Miss Mackaill isn't asked to do any more slapstick comedies. Her first under the peace treaty will be "The Crystal Cup," based on Gertrude Atherton's famous book.

Just to show that First National intends to do right by Dot they have borrowed Bernard Vorhaus, the talented young scenario writer from Famous Players-Lasky to adapt Mrs. Atherton's book Jack Mulhall will play opposite her.

Dorothy Mackaill

MY WHOLE COLUMN TODAY seems to be largely stories of reconciliations, breaks and what not. Rod La Rocque, who has registered his dissatisfaction with the De Mille organization by filing suit, may bury his displeasure long enough to play the lead in "A Friend of Napoleon."

William K. Howard, the director, is very eager to have Rod, and Rod, who has read the book, is equally anxious to have a chance at this picture which is to be the biggest thing next to "The King of Kings," from the De Mille studio.

John Furrow is adapting 'he story and if Rod and Cecil De Mille can bury their differences work will be started almost any time now. John Flynn is here from New York and Henry Clay, who has been doing on John when it comes to being a pacificator, may be able to bring the waring factions together.

A LITTLE SPRING HOUSE CLEANING OF DIRECTORS taking place at Famous Players-Lasky. I am not so sure the upheaval is entirely the fault of the company. It may be the directors who are looking for a change of pasture, one never knows. I the list whose options expire and who will not continue working under this banner are Erle Kenton, E. H. Griffith, Clarence Badger and Frank Lloyd.

Frank Lloyd is about to sign with United Artists. It seems the man who made "The Sea Hawk" one of the finest pictures of the year, has played in bad luck.

Stubbs Mentioned as Crimson Coach

The announcement of the retirement of Ned Bigelow as the Harvard hockey coach leaves a wide gap to be filled in the Harvard coaching staff. Bigelow has set up an enviable record as a Harvard puck mentor and a record that will be a mark for his successor to overcome.

Talk at Harvard this morning had Joe Stubbs of Newton as the next Crimson coach. Stubbs has been assisting Bigelow for the past two seasons and should fill in the gap in fine fashion. Stubbs was a former Crimson defense man and earned three hockey letters while playing for the Crimson.

After coaching his debut, Stubbs played with the old B. A. A. team when the new Arena was built. Later he hitched up with the Boston Hockey Club and two years ago hung up his skates as a player for good.

The chances are that no successor will be announced until the next captain is elected tomorrow afternoon. Joe Morrill, the irrepressible rogue, is slated to succeed Bill Ellison. Johnny Chase is the other boy who has a chance for the post, with the choices favoring Morrill.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ICE TEAM ENDS, UNDEFEATED

Durham, N. H., March 1.—The University of New Hampshire hockey team has finished its season undefeated. The Wildcats won seven games and their victims were Saint Bonaventure, Providence College, Springfield twice, Brown and the Cubans. Six games were cancelled because of poor ice. The team loses only two men by graduation and should have a strong club next year.

ALL BRAVES PRESENT OR ACCOUNTED FOR

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 1.—Lance Richbourg, outfielder from the American Association, has reported at the Braves' camp, so now everybody is present except the holdouts, who don't make any difference, according to official promulgations.

Bob Smith, pitcher, refused the final offer made by Judge Fuch yesterday, and he was informed that he could spend the Summer in the insurance business or any way to chose. The ultimatum was sent in not very gentle terms, so the chances are that Robert will take it seriously and appear in these precincts very shortly.

Oscar Selmer, catcher, and an infielder named Narlesky objected to their contracts and were told to keep right on objecting. Their reservations have been scratched at the hotel here, so they will have to park in the wide open spaces when they do appear.

Manager Bancroft steered the Tribe through a couple of blazing practice sessions yesterday and has two more on the fire today. The real tropical weather has boiled the athletes down slowly, and the young men will welcome the respite that will arrive when the games come along.

A scrub game will be played tomorrow afternoon, just a few innings, to give the players the feel of the game. The same thing will be put over Thursday and Friday, and that exercise will have the team in pretty good shape for the Senators Saturday.

WASHINGTON PITCHERS IN CAMP TWO WEEKS

The Washington pitchers have been at Tampa for two weeks, but the rest of the club did not report until a few days ago. Some of the veterans did work out at Hot Springs, however, so the Boston outfit will have the worst of it as far as condition goes.

But the Tribe isn't going to worry about exhibition results this Spring. The boys won the championship of Florida last year and then fell apart when the regular stuff came along. Their pep will be saved for the National League opponents this time.

Ruether is working out two infields every day now. He starts off with Fournier at first, Gautreau on second and Eddie Moore at third. He plays short himself with both combinations. After that bunch have fifteen minutes, Harris, Thomas and Andy High step in as replacements.

There's no telling how it will work out and there's sure to be some wild scrambling for jobs. But from where we sit, we imagine that Manager Dave will eventually pack in as much hitting strength as possible. Andy High will be on third and Moore back at second when the season starts or all guesses are wrong.

Richbourg, a husky, fast kid, is in line for a regular outfield job. He cost a lot of money and comes up with a large reputation. He can be sent back if he does not make good, so he will have his chance from the moment he gathers his batting eye.

Jimmy Welsh reported in time for the Monday practice, although he had to step off a train and right into a uniform. He had been hitting the bumps for over five days and was rather groggy. But he looks much better than he has ever reported in the Spring.

He took things easy all Winter, gained a little weight and got rid of the trouble with his side that held him back the last couple of campaigns. Jimmy finished like a real champ last Fall and should pick up at about the same spot.

Golfers Planning Big Testimonial for Horan

By STED CHANDLER

Friends of Dan Horan, the State golf handicapper—and they are legion—are planning a testimonial tournament for his benefit.

Dan has been seriously ill for the past six weeks, and is at present at the Carney Hospital, South Boston, recuperating not only from a severe nervous collapse but also from a shock caused by the death of his mother.

The idea of the testimonial benefit was conceived by Jack Donaldson of Brookline, and has been eagerly seized upon by the host of Dan's friends. The idea be it said is still in its infancy, and no doubt suggestions from golfers and friends of Dan throughout the State will be received willingly by those who first brought up the plan.

Donaldson's initial suggestion was augmented by George Aubach, professional at Attleboro, and at the present writing a super-duper match is in the offing. It is planned to open the season with a match between Aubach and some as yet unknown golfer, in all probability Walter Hagen. This match can be played right here at home.

Zafiro Breaks Own Record

Mexico City, March 1 (AP)—Juan Zafiro, Tarahumara Indian runner, beat his own record for 100 kilometers yesterday, covering the distance in 7 hours 45 minutes. His previous record for 100 kilometers (about 62 miles) of 9 hours 53 minutes was made in a remarkable run from Pachuca to Mexico City last November.

Yesterday's record was during an elimination race at Chihuahua to select a team to be sent to Austin, Tex. Twenty-seven Tarahumara women participated in a 45-kilometer race, which was won by Manuela Faciencia in 4 hours 48 minutes.

Lee and Mello to Battle Again at Arena March 7

Al Mello of Lowell and George Kid Lee of Worcester, a pair of perennial rivals, will meet for the third time at the Arena next Monday night in a 10-round bout under the direction of the Suffolk A. A.

The men will fight on a percentage basis, according to their contracts. Of the total purse taken in at the gate, 30 per cent. will be divided between the two boxers, on a 60-10 split.

Lee has defeated Mello twice, the only man in the sport able to take the measure of the hard-hitting Lowell welterweight. On the occasion of their first meeting, Lee was awarded the decision, although the sky is still filled with talk about the poor quality of that decision. Their next meeting resulted in another victory for Lee, this time on a foul in the opening round. Now they are to meet once more, on a supposedly fouls, to settle the issues for [illegible]

P.A.
and a pipe
—that's my dish!
I COULDN'T ask for more. Prince Albert gives me everything I want in a smoke. It is fragrant, delightfully fragrant . . . both in the tidy red tin, and as I smoke it in my old jimmy-pipe. It is cool and sweet as an orange just off the ice. Refreshing!
If there's one thing more than any other which I like about this grand old tobacco, it is its mildness . . . mildness that is balanced, however, by a full, rich body that satisfies my smoke-taste all the way down. It was this rare combination of mildness and tobacco-body that won me to P. A. right off the bat.
I can't give you the complete picture, for taste is a thing that must be experienced. But I feel so sure that you will enjoy P. A. as you never enjoyed any other tobacco, that I am telling you, here and now, to buy a tidy red tin and get started. You can't lose, Men.
Thousands of pipe-smokers who thought they were all set have taken similar advice. They've agreed that it was worth the experiment. Today they are among the millions of P. A. regulars . . . the most contented bunch of pipe-smokers in the world. Come on in—the smoking's fine.

The Thrill of Love and Millions Abounds in Every Chapter

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Luke Jefferies, walking along a London street, is asked by Mary Vickers to come into her father's house. The father is dying and seeks someone to whom he can entrust a mission. He explains that Abraham Steel, an old friend, has discovered a substitute for petrol. Agents of a powerful oil syndicate are seeking the formula. Vickers is trying to protect Steel. He offers Jefferies a big reward if he will take his place. As he dies he warns him against Monsieur Carnifex, whom he brands as a traitor. Mary goes to live with Madge Aldhouse and Jefferies meets her and her brother, Jack Enderby. They make a midnight dash to Steel's house in the country. He is in fear of his life. Late in the evening Steel is murdered, but he tells Jefferies where his papers are.

The man who killed Steel reports to Carnifex that the dying inventor imparted his secret to Jefferies.

Jefferies calls on Curwen Brown of the Foreign Office, who promises his assistance in trailing down the conspirators.

Jefferies calls upon Carnifex who offers him twenty thousand pounds for the secret.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER XII

IN A room that Madge Aldhouse described as the lounge, a room of soft-shaded lights, and many [illegible] furnished, Luke Jefferies sat upon an immense chair balancing a tiny coffee-cup upon one huge knee. Madge Aldhouse seemed, as compared with a we, behaved bull in a china shop.

Mary Vickers appeared a little excited. Her delicate face had lost its accustomed pallor, and Jefferies entered the room and found Madge looked at him admiringly.

The reason for her excitement was not as soon as she [illegible] in the house. She had discovered one of Abraham Steel's former friends. It was Curwen Brown, and [illegible] had been an unimportant [illegible] entitled to her father over [illegible] years ago.

"Then you find this out just before dinner?" Madge Aldhouse put in. "I've had the greatest difficulty in preventing the child [illegible] at once, sans dinner, sans anything."

Luke Jefferies glanced at his watch.

"It's rather late to call with a request to search a house now," he said. "As a matter of fact, the morning will be better. It is most important that we get to the place [illegible] long [illegible]."

"Why not?"

"There will possibly be danger. We are up against people who are playing for big stakes, and the longer they are resisted, the less likely they are to use kid-glove methods to obtain their end. Women are best out of it."

"Mr. Jefferies is right," said Madge Aldhouse. "I've a [illegible] for a [illegible] man and I [illegible] I would rather [illegible]."

Acid Stomach

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda heresitter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water at time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this sourning waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any druggist. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

MEDBURY SAYS—

BY JOHN P. MEDBURY

MONEY goes so fast nowadays that the government is planning to make dollar bills with handles so that we can hang on to them better.

GREENBACKS wouldn't slip out of our fingers so easily if Uncle Sam would print them on Gripsac.

IT'S getting so that we have to pour molasses in our wallets.

ONE fellow's change flew so rapidly that he took all his fifty-cent pieces to a veterinary surgeon and had the eagle's wings clipped.

HE wants the mint to do away with eagles entirely and use homing pigeons.

PARROTS would be still better. They could holler every time somebody started picking your pocket.

IF money talks, why not let it call our creditors names?

THE Chinese government has the right idea. They put holes in their coins so that the workingman can nail his salary to the floor.

NOT only that, but it's more sanitary. The germs fall through the hole and break their necks.

WHILE U. S. money is supposed to contain microbes, you never see any millionaires hanging around the Board of Health.

HENRY FORD or John D. Rockefeller very seldom have to put chloride of lime in their wallets.

THEY let the bacteria eat off the small bills while they spend the big ones.

CURRENCY may be unhealthy, but it's certainly not contagious.

MOST of us can't get near enough to a ten-dollar bill to become inoculated.

IF money was catching, the millionaires would want the poor people vaccinated.

ONE bare fellow went to the mint the other day and exposed himself to five billion dollars.

HE spent a whole day among the microbes and came away without a bite.

TIMES, however, are getting better. Money not only goes further than it used to, but it also stays away much longer.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—if there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes — pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you nine(?) per cent. of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

How to Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will help reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic cases of Piles are often entirely absorbed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. All druggists sell lots of it.

To Those Who Suffer Stomach Distress, Gas and Indigestion

All Druggists Make This Offer

Money Back If One Bottle of Dare's Mentha Pepsin Doesn't Do You More Good Than Anything You Ever Used.

The way has been found to combine Pepsin with other corrective stomach agents so that it will do the most good in the shortest possible time.

Why bother with slow acting since one tablespoonful of this splendid and pleasant liquid remedy usually eases gas, bloating heaviness, heartburn or that upset condition of the stomach, when due to excesses or faulty elimination to speedily vanish.

And why should any man or woman suffer another hour with indigestion or annoying stomach misery from such causes when the remedy that acts almost instantly can be easily procured?

But there is more to say about this remarkable remedy—something that will interest thousands of despondent people.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin not only quickly relieves stomach distress of this sort, but is compounded to conquer stubborn indigestion or dyspepsia and put an end to dizziness, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness and despondency, when these distressing troubles are caused by stomach disturbance of the kind mentioned.

Dare's Mentha Pepsin is pleasant to take, has a delightfully refreshing taste and after it has helped to put your stomach in a clean and healthy condition, just notice how much better you look and feel, for besides correcting stomach disorders caused by excesses or faulty elimination this supremely good remedy that druggists everywhere guarantee is a fine upbuilding elixir that causes you to work with vim, eat with relish and sleep soundly.

Stock Fakers Still Busy; Bonds Safer for Savings

By B. C. FORBES

New York, March 1—Losses from buying bad stocks are still running at the rate of between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 every day.

Such losses exceed the loss caused by all the fires in the United States day by day and year by year. They are greater than all the losses caused by commercial failures in this country. Time spent in between half and two-thirds of the total gain in savings deposits in course of a year.

What can be done about it?

B. C. Forbes

MOST—THOUGH not all—of these crude loss totals is caused by persons who were not familiar with the risks never before from gold-tongued peddlers but to talk with a local banker and ask him either to recommend a suitable investment or at least ascertain whether the stock concern represents a well known and long-standing investment firm or some unknown untrustworthy schemer. It is now easy enough also to get trustworthy advice from leading newspapers without cost, or from financial periodicals, at either no cost or small cost.

But low-class newspapers and periodicals must be shunned. Unhappily, there are some publications in contacts with promoters of stocks and bonds which are rotten and utterly unsuitable for the funds of small investors.

In the larger cities there usually is now a better business tone which investigates suspicious and stands ready to tell those who think of buying securities whether the parties approaching them are of the right type.

* * *

BROADLY speaking, bonds are more suitable for the small investor not versed in financial matters than stocks. When reputable erises, stockholders are the first to lose their money, because the bondholders rank ahead of the stockholders in the distribution of assets—as well as the distribution of profits. In any given company's stock, bondholders make more money than the bond-holders. But, of course, bonds also can be worth little or nothing if the concern issuing them ceases to make money.

* * *

THE LARGEST organization in America for selling securities to investors, the National City Company of New York, is encouraging that it has decided to make the investation of adding selected common stocks to the list of offerings. Heretofore confined to bonds and preferred stocks, points out that the company instructed to use discrimination in the selection of those to whom they sell common stocks. Sale of common stocks are more a business man's investment than an investment for inexperienced folk anxious to save.

It is clearly considered, you will thus see, that common stocks are now regarded as the right kind of investment for persons of modest means, or others not of sufficient to accept risks.

* * *

IT MAY be well to point out that the income from this very best common stocks—the only kind which ordinary folks should ever dream of buying if they insist on speculating—usually not very much greater than the income from dependable bonds. As a matter of fact, the average present on many stocks is hardly any larger than the yield on first-grade

NEW ENGLAND'S LEADERSHIP IS SHOWN

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

New England's leadership in the fields of business and finance is shown in many ways, but one of the most interesting can be pointed out in connection with our recent publication of a list of billion dollar corporations. The three largest are all headed by New England men.

First comes American Telephone, total market value of the securities of which is $2,966,642,000. Walter S. Gifford of Salem is president. Second is U. S. Steel with securities of a total market value of $1,778,903,000. James A. Farrell of New Haven is president. Third is Standard Oil of New Jersey, the market value of securities of which is $1,521,316,900. Walter C. Teagle, Jr., of New Haven is president.

In view of some recent discussion, the educational training of these men is interesting. President Gifford was graduated as an Harvard and President Sloan at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. President Farrell was educated in the public schools. The public schools also can claim credit for Patrick E. Crowley, president of the New York Central, the fourth largest corporation, which reaches Boston through the Boston & Albany.

* * *

Substantial increase in New Haven freight earnings for January is one index showing New England business better than a year ago, for, of course, the rise is in passenger earnings. Of course, another cause for improvement have been the larger than a year ago, when the strike made those of little importance.

Improvement in car loadings is not confined to New England. But extends across the northern border. Car loadings on Canadian roads for week ended Feb. 19 were 70,036, against 66,100 in the corresponding week of last year, while receipts from connections were 46,053, against 41,558 in the previous week, and 36,013 last year. For the first time this year loadings totaled 414,632, against 385,879 last year, and receipts from connections 257,264, against 243,483.

Friends of Alfred P. Wall, one of the leading Boston statisticians, will be sorry to learn he is to leave Boston, Feb. 28, to take a position with the Chicago firm of George Peck & Co., investment bankers. Mr. Wall has been sought by the Chicago bankers for many months, having come to the attention of Mr. Peck in connection with his study of the Boston & Maine Railroad situation. Mr. Wall has been one of the best known statisticians on "State Street" for a number of years. He was for several years in charge of the statistical department of Fitzgerald, Hubbard & Co., which is now Lee, Higginson & Co. A farewell dinner is being tendered Mr. Wall by the leading members in the financial community at the University Club March 9. John L. Grigg, statistician of Lee, Laidlaw & Co., is chairman of the committee arranging the dinner and reservations.

Stock Analysis

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Company operates directly about 12,068 miles of road extending from Chicago to Los Angeles and San Francisco on the Pacific coast and to Galveston on the Gulf of Mexico. Many extensive branches are also operated.

This railroad has experienced a steady growth in its freight business during recent years. Freight moved in revenue service is of this character. About 75 per cent. of the company's traffic originates on its own lines. The company has been active in development work with the result that it is now in a good position to obtain full benefit from rapidly expanding business in its territory.

During the ten years which ended in 1925, earnings amounted to an average of over 18 per cent. on the common stock. The 1925 earnings per share on the common stock totaled $17.30. It is estimated that 1926 earnings were slightly better, probably being over $20 a share. This is a record figure.

Dividends on the common stock have been paid in every year since 1901. From 1910 to 1924 the annual rate was 6 per cent. During the past two years payments have amounted to 7 per cent. In addition, an extra dividend of 75 cents per share on the common stock was declared in January, 1926; another extra payment of 75 cents is payable March 1 of this year.

$30,000,000 7 P. C. LOAN TO ROME COMING

New York, March 1.—A loan of $30,000,000 to the city of Rome, bearing 7 per cent. coupon, is being arranged.

CHARLESTOWN GAS HAS SMALL EARNINGS CHANGE

Charlestown Gas & Electric Co. reports to Department of Public Utilities for year ended Dec. 31, 1926, net income of $168,860, compared with $170,774 in 1925. This is equal to 24.14 per cent ($6.04) in the 28,000 shares of $25 par; against 24.32 per cent ($6.08) in 1925.

DILLON REPLY IN GOODYEAR SUIT FILED

Clarence Dillon of Dillon, Read & Co., Monday filed in both the New York and Ohio courts complete answers to the suits brought by various stockholders of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, alleging excessive profits by Clarence Dillon, John Sherwin and Dillon, Read & Co. of "at least $15,000,000."

In his answers Mr. Dillon says, in substance:

1—That growing out of all purchases of securities from the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, from 1921 to 1926, inclusive, consisting of underwriting and distributing $81,000,000 in securities, including the issue of $30,000,000 first mortgage bonds at the time of the reorganization of the company in 1921, Dillon, Read & Co. has received for its services $646,234, or a little over 1 per cent.

2—Profits and commissions on other transactions between Dillon, Read & Co. and the Goodyear Company, since the reorganization of the Goodyear Company in 1921 until and through 1926 other than on account of the security issues named above are fixed in Mr. Dillon's answer to amount to $232,002.

RISE IN GOODYEAR.

3—When the Goodyear Company was reorganized in 1921 its "tin bank" credit was exhausted and the raising of funds by the sale of securities seemed impossible.

4—As a result of the reorganization and change in value of the parent rubber company, its preferred stock rose from $25 per share at the time of the reorganization to $100 per share, and its common stock, selling at $10 per share at the time of the reorganization, is now selling at about $30 per share.

Based on the quotations of sales at the time of reorganization, the increase in value of the preferred and common stock then outstanding was less than $23,000,000; whereas, on the basis current sales quotations, such market valuation has increased to over $90,000,000.

5—"Dillon, Read & Co." says Mr. Dillon, "has never solicited or received a loan or borrowed any money from the Goodyear Company."

6—The management of the Goodyear to Owen D. Young, John Sherwin and Clarence Dillon as joint tenants, was for the purpose of protecting the securities issued upon the reorganization of the company.

7—The employment of Leonard Kennedy & Co., Inc., as managers of the reorganized Goodyear Company enabled the Goodyear Company to obtain the expert services of Mr. E. G. Whitney, an engineer, and in association with the new management of Mr. A. L. Viles, to reduce the manufacturing costs in the Kennedy Co., Inc. "The Kennedy Company contract," says Mr. Dillon, "was entered simply a wise measure for the Goodyear Company but saved it from disaster."

PLAN PRESENTED

8—Those who are bringing the present suits against Dillon, Read and his associates have, Mr. Dillon says, "accepted the benefits accruing to the Goodyear Company and to other holders from its reorganization," and are, therefore, stopped from now complaining of the relationship of himself or Dillon, Read & Co. to the Goodyear Company, which they have always hitherto acquiesced in without objection.

Mr. Dillon states that in view of the Goodyear Company's greatly improved condition, certain of its officers and directors have been of the opinion that securities issued in 1921 can be advantageously refunded and that thus the safeguards in the form of management stock and voting trusts created at the time these securities were issued and which constitute conditions on which the same were issued can be eliminated; and that Dillon, Read & Co. are willing to cooperate in any reasonable plan of refunding the securities of the Goodyear Company which is advantageous to the Goodyear Company and by which the control of the Goodyear Company is returned to its stockholders.

Mr. Dillon further states that such a plan was presented by P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear company, to the board of directors and to the voting trustees of various classes of stock and approved by all voting trustees excepting Frank A. Seiberling and his co-trustees, comprising a majority of the voting trustees of the common stock.

10. In general, Mr. Dillon states that no excessive profits have been realized, and he asserts that all compensation for transactions of himself and his firm with the Goodyear company has been upon a reasonable basis, and that the results on the Goodyear company have been such as to "render the Goodyear company reorganization one of the most successful in the history of American industry."

NOBODY IN this government seems to know that war conditions have changed. We have examples of flying ships, no fighting fleet, no systematic production of airplanes. We take what we consider the best of the few we have, send them on a ridiculous trip to South America before they have quite learned to fly apparently, and while they are amusing a crowd two of the best men are killed in a collision in the air.

As regards flying, our government program is idiotic and dangerously stupid.

CERTAIN CLERGYMEN are accused of being "Red." Their accusers want them investigated by a Congressional judiciary committee.

A clergyman is "Red" when he doesn't believe that a whale swallowed Jonah and coughed him up on the lake shore.

He is "Red" if he believes that the advice to give all to the poor was really meant seriously.

HE IS "RED" if he doubts that Joshua made the sun stand still in its trip around the earth, in spite of the fact that it doesn't go around the earth.

He is "Red" if he says the four angels could not have stood on the four corners of the earth because it isn't square.

And he is BRIGHT Red, if he thinks anything should be done to let everybody have enough, here, where so many have too much.

PREMIER IBANEZ of Chile, South American imitation of Mussolini and Kemal Pasha, recently whipped a collection of "Reds" out of the country, the shipment including the president of the Court of Appeals. "Reds" are accused of defying law and the courts. The "Super-Red" is the gentleman that defies all law in the name of patriotic dictatorship.

WESTERN RAILROAD managers oppose the demand of railroad conductors and trainmen for 7½ per cent. increase in wages. "The increase would total $13,000,000 a year," say officials. WHAT OF IT? Increase railroad receipts and profits total many times $13,000,000 a year, and are constantly going up. The railroads, if wise, will divide part of their rapidly increasing profits among men that do the work. Railroad conductors and trainmen carry the real responsibility of railroading. They are loyal, admirable servants of the public, and underpaid.

OHIO SAYS motion pictures must be historically accurate. How will you manage that? History is 75 per cent. imagination, much of it absolutely false. Writers of history are too near the picture to see it clearly.

LOUIS THE ELEVENTH, usually described as a human devil because the hung men up in small cages, etc., was probably the most useful King that France ever had.

Caesar, according to Ferrero, was more of a scheming politician than the great hero that Froude and others make him. Nero did not play the fiddle as Rome burned, did not set fire to Rome. There is no such thing as "accurate history."

WALL STREET played the BEARS' FUNERAL MARCH yesterday, with variations. Two-and-a-half-million shares of stock were sold. Thoughtful citizens who have felt for the last few months that it was "about time to go short" know how Crocesus felt when he cried out, "Oh, Solon, Solon," standing on

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the operation of population for each representative in each case to be that of the sating Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, allnited under a Secretary of National Defense.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

All Dressed Up

No Particular Place to Go

A YOUNG PRINCE OF SIAM, "WELL DRESSED."

This costume is one that young American boys might reasonably call "a nifty." The jewels are real, enormous rubies, diamonds, sapphires, emeralds, almost completely covering the upper part of the young Prince's body.

You may or may not be sorry to hear that this magnificent costume, actually worth millions, is part of the loot that thieves carried away recently in a daring robbery at the palace of King Prajadhipok of Siam. The King was off on his vacation; thieves broke in and stole.

This young Prince of the royal blood probably feels very happy in all his jewelry. He is certainly all dressed up. But there is not any particular place to go to in Siam. An American boy, with football headgear to protect his ears, a football to kick, in rough, muddy clothes, is happier than this little Prince, for the American boy is ACTIVE, and life is MOTION.

An Anti-Petting Clause May Be Inserted in Future Accident Insurance Policies

Of course, it is all fun, but the flappers are playing too rough.

The accident insurance companies are beginning to complain of the jazz age. Petting parties are getting on the nerves of the insurance adjusters and they have decided, in a general meeting assembled at Hartford, Ct., that something must be done about it.

Many were the tales told of rough love-making. One girl embraced her lover so fervently that a heavy bracelet on her wrist cracked one of his ribs. He immediately asked an accident insurance company to indemnify him, and it had no alternative but to pay. An "anti-petting" clause may be inserted in future policies.

One company was called upon to pay for a pair of expensive eye-glasses and case which had been shattered in a man's pocket when his particular Juliet embraced him upon his arrival at her home. She was glad to see him, of course, and he would have been glad to see her if his glasses had not been broken. Under the circumstances, he couldn't. His company paid the claim.

Another company had to pay damages to a young man who had been bitten by an animal pet reputably placed in his lap by a young lady at a banquet. One woman based her claim to damages from an insurance company as a result of cuts on her foot received when she trod upon a flask which had been dropped out of a flapper's handbag in a theatre.

Young ladies should remember that even Zbyszko is a bit careful with his half-nelsons when wrestling. They should have some mercy for the weaker sex.

Unreel the Red Tape

An excellent suggestion to speed tax red tape in bonus certificate loans is made by Representative Jacobstein of Rochester.

When Congress instructs the Veterans' Bureau to advance loans on bonus certificates, preliminary correspondence and identification will be necessary.

The Veterans' Bureau has only sixty offices. The Postoffice has 50,000.

Mr. Jacobstein therefore proposes that every postoffice be authorized to take care of this preliminary work, so that a veteran anywhere may have his case attended to with the least possible trouble and delay.

Should this plan be approved, the holder of a bonus certificate, if unknown to the local postmaster, would need [illegible] two citizens to [illegible] his identification. That mac[illegible] papers would go to [illegible] Bureau and the draft for the loan be returned [illegible] de out.

Since Congress fumb[illegible] ... badly in the first place, it should reali[illegible] to mend matters thoroughly and promptly.

MANY HEARTS ARE GOING UPSTREAM

By DR. FRANK CRANE

WHEN Bishop McIntyre stood on the Canadian bank of Niagara Falls he said that everything in the universe seemed to be going down. Yet a closer scrutiny revealed the little steamer "Maid of the Mist" going up.

Pessimists tell us that everything and everybody is going to the dogs.

We have the authority of the realists and the gloomy philosophers that things are getting worse and worse. Yet somehow the world seems struggling upward.

It has made much improvement in the last eighteen hundred years or so and it is liable to make more in the next few years.

The stream of traffic on Broadway is ceaseless, but occasionally a policeman raises his hand and the traffic stops while he leads a little child or an old woman in safety from curb to curb.

The newspapers are filled with accounts of murders and all sorts of crimes until it seems that the country is afflicted with a crime wave, but every once in a while you hear of a kind deed done by somebody who is not at all afflicted with crime motives.

Doubtless there are many kind deeds not recorded all through the world. Many hearts are going up stream.

It is pretty hard on them at times and the struggle is pretty severe, but taking all in all the company of those who are struggling to make the world better is considerable and they have the cosmic laws in their favor.

Whoever does what is right may be peculiar, but he belongs to a long line of beneficent forebears. He may know that his labor is not wasted.

For there are always a number of people who are going up stream just as there are many people who are laying down their oars and going with the stream toward the deadly waterfalls of disaster.

There is something in the human breast that inclines men to struggle, to push onward and upward, notwithstanding that the stream of things seems to bear them down.

BOSTON DAY BY DAY

WHY BAY STATE?

Why is Massachusetts called the Bay State? "Because of Massachusetts Bay," most people will answer. Wrong again. FRANK S. DAVIS, manager of the Boston Chamber of Commerce Maritime Association, explains: "It has seven harbors, every one of them with a minimum low water depth of 23 feet: Newburyport, Salem, Lynn, Gloucester, Boston, New Bedford, Fall River."

LAST WORD

GENERAL MANAGER S. W. WAKEMAN of Fore River, the shipbuilding plant worth millions, erected on a site that within the memory of many Quincy citizens was once a cabbage patch, has an unusual honor. It is that of presiding over the putting of the finishing touches on the U. S. S. LEXINGTON. The vessel will be finished in about a year. As a mother ship for submarines it will be the most powerful naval craft afloat.

THERE

Admired for his many good qualities, FRED DILLON, clerk in the BOSTON MUNICIPAL COURT, is one for whom familiarity will never breed contempt. Day by day, as the late Professor Cous would have said, he impresses you more and more favorably. As a court clerk, he has few equals. As a lawyer, his stock is selling at par.

BEFOGGING ISSUE.

REPRESENTATIVE SUSAN FITZGERALD wishes someone would invent a pipe or cigarette that did not smoke. Not that she is opposed to smoking, but, according to her own admission: "The smoke that arises during our legislative committee hearings fogs my glasses and I can't see what is going on, some of the time." She pays strict attention to every word that is [illegible]

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"WHAT'S the matter with women nowadays?" snarls the Modern Man.

"Why can't they be satisfied to stay at home the way my mother was? What's got into 'em, that they have to go gadding around, neglecting their husbands and their children, looking for 'careers'?"

Nothing's "got into them," brother—nothing that hasn't been there since Eve first ate that undigestible apple.

The trouble with you man is that you've never known what women were really like. You've thought of woman's nature as something entirely different and apart from man nature. Quieter, simpler — more easily satisfied. Something that just naturally liked to stay at home and take care of babies and husbands. Something without temptations, or world ambitions or the itch of restlessness.

"Sugar n' spice, n' everything nice. That's what little girls are made of"—according to you boys.

But you boys were always wrong.

Not Pink Putty

Women aren't pretty piles of pink putty. They are as edgy and restless and wild as men never dreamed of being. Probably they're more restless. Study any revolution in human history, any upheaval, any change or shift, large or small, and you're pretty sure to find some woman's desire in the background. Or the desire of many women wanting more land for their children, more power for themselves.

There's a poem which goes like this:

"Every woman is a wild, free thing—
Deep inside—
Every woman hears the spaces —in the spaces sing—
Every woman would go wandering
Far and wide."

I don't know who wrote that poem, but it is certainly true dope, brother. It was always true—as true in grandpa's days as it is now.

Unhappy Hearts

"Homekeeping hearts are happiest," quoted grandpa, and thought he was settling things. He wasn't. Many of those home-keeping hearts were desperately unhappy. Most of our grandmas, like most of our grandpas, were happy insofar as they were powerful or important in their homes and communities. Fortunately there was plenty of chance for grandma to be both powerful and important in the days when the home was truly a community centre or a world in itself.

But homes aren't that any more. The industries have taken the crafts out of the home. The communities have expanded until we live in niches instead of houses. And that wildness in women, that hunger for adventuring, has little or nothing to feed upon in the home.

Remember that when you talk to the next dissatisfied woman. Look into her restless, unhappy eyes — at her empty, nervous hands. Do not turn from her with anger or disgust because she seems so useless. Pity her, instead. And pray that we will arrive at some plan which will put these restless women adventurers back again on their course.
